Earl Alexander Retires;
Macmillan to Defense Post

By JACK SMITH

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill reorganized his Conservative government early today, changing 24 ministers and junior ministers and bringing seven new faces into his cabinet.

JUST for the RECORD

BY GUM!—In Chicago the burglar who invaded the home of Albert Stern may have to make a second trip. He took Stern's upper plate of false teeth, but left the lowers.

ALL IN THE FAMILY: In Dallas, Tex., six-year-old Cathy Crouch has to go to school with two of her aunts, but she doesn't mind too much. One of the aunts is seven and the other six.

ELEPHANTS, TOO?: In Los Angeles the gentlemen of leisure (drunks) who usually repose on the lawn beside the city hall vacated their hangout in a hurry yesterday but not because of the law.

A three-foot bull snake that slithered over from a nearby excavation caused the mass exodus.

Ghost Cars Nab Offenders in Colwood District

Ghost cars were responsible for apprehension of several traffic violators who appeared in Colwood RCMP court Saturday, police reported.

Fined were two juveniles who paid $10 and costs for driving cars without liability insurance. Charles G. Phillips, who paid $10 and $3 costs for driving over 50 and 25 and costs for having no driver's license.

Charles Thompson paid $25 and $3 costs for careless driving and John B. C. Hudson was fined $35 for the same offense. Lawrence Venuti, was fined $15 and costs for speeding and Lee Hong Bun paid $10 and costs for crossing a double solid line.

CHEMAINUS VOTERS PASS WATER BY-LAW

CHEMAINUS—Tenders will be called next spring for work to be done on the first stage of installing a new waterworks system in the Chemainus section of North Cowichan municipality.

Voters approved plans for a new installation Saturday by an overwhelming vote of 445 to 41. The project will cost about $450,000.

Plans call for damming Holyoak Lake to create a storage reservoir, building of a new dam and providing a large intake pond on Miller Creek. New mains also will be installed.

IRA COMMANDOS RAID N. IRELAND ARMY BASE

OMAGH, Northern Ireland (Reuters)—Gunmen with sub-machine guns and commando knives fought their way into a British army base in a blazing, 10-minute gun battle here Sunday, wounding five British soldiers and suffering at least six casualties themselves.

The gunmen fell back, carrying their wounded, after a savage exchange of fire. They piled into waiting trucks for a fast getaway in the direction of the Irish Republic border.

A total of 26 raiders took part. Six men from the republic were arrested Sunday night. The gang was believed to be part of the underground Irish Republican Army.

Accidents, Drownings Take 9 B.C. Lives

(By British United Press)

A death toll of nine was counted in traffic accidents, drownings and a logging fatality throughout British Columbia today.

Harry Ridley and Fred Jones of Massett, B.C., were aboard the 32-foot fishboat Oceanic when it was caught in a violent storm off the Supper Coast last Wednesday. It has not been seen since and the two men are believed to have drowned.

The first fatality of the hunting season was recorded on opening day Saturday when George Bolto, 32, a Vancouver draughtsman, drowned when he fell out of a skiff on the Fraser River near Ladner.

The body of a woman was found Sunday floating in Burrard Inlet near the North Vancouver ferry slip. Police withheld identification. The woman was reported to have disappeared from a West Vancouver nursing home a few days ago.

TRAFFIC VICTIM

Henry D. Parker, 58, of Vancouver, became that city's 21st traffic fatality of the year when he died Sunday after his car went out of control and hit a lamp-post. His wife was injured in the accident and taken to the Vancouver General Hospital where her condition is reported satisfactory.

Mrs. Anne A. G. Smith, 74, of Vancouver, was killed early Sunday when she was struck by a car while crossing Kingsway Avenue in Vancouver.

Police said the car was driven by Martin Oscar Dahl, Vancouver. No charges were laid, but an inquest will be held.

The RCMP at Prince George withheld identification of an Indian from Dawson Creek who was killed near there when a light truck smashed into a parked logging truck. The accident, which also injured a woman, took place 10 miles north of the city. Police said the trucks were driven by Jack Maslin and George Fleming.

Hugh Campbell, CPR Press Chief, Dead at 57

Headed Wartime Information Board

MONTREAL (CP)—J. Hugh Campbell, former director of the wartime information board at Washington and manager of the Canadian Pacific Railways' department of public relations since 1945, died suddenly Saturday in hospital. He was 57.

A native of Stayner, Ont., Mr. Campbell was raised in Macleod, Alta. He served in France as a cavalryman during the First World War and joined the Calgary Herald as a reporter on his return.

He remained there until 1928 and was telegraph editor for the newspaper when he left to join the CPR as a press representative. He worked at Vancouver and Winnipeg before being loaned to the Canadian government in 1942 to become director of the wartime information board at Washington.

After the war, he came to Montreal as manager of the CPR's public relations department.

Mr. Campbell is survived by his widow, the former Ruby Hennessey of Port Hawkesbury, N.S., a daughter, Carole, his mother, Mrs. W. M. Campbell of Penitence, B.C., and a brother, Reginald, also of Penitence.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Montreal. Cremation will follow.

Certain primitive Africans bind their skulls with strips of hide so that their heads grow "on a bias." When these wrappings are removed the first flow of blood is extremely painful.

Members of Naval Veterans' Branch, No. 42, Canadian Legion, B.C.E.L., are requested to attend the funeral of our late comrade Denis Cameron Murphy. Prayers will be offered in McGill Bros. Funeral Chapel on Monday evening, October 18, at 8:15. Mass will be celebrated on Tuesday morning, October 19, at 9 o'clock at St. Andrew's Cathedral.

SECRETARY-MANAGER

DULLES FLIES TO PARIS FOR CONFERENCES

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flies to Paris Tuesday for three crucial conferences that may make or break the West's historic new plan for rearming Germany.

The fast-traveling secretary will meet with British, French and German leaders Wednesday to sign a series of agreements formally ending the Big Three's nine-year occupation of west Germany.

On Thursday he will sit in on a meeting of the Brussels nations while they consider the admission of Germany and Italy and other measures clearing the way for Germany's rearmament.

Finally, Dulles will meet on Friday with representatives of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to formally invite Germany to become a member and to broaden the powers of the supreme Allied commander in line with the German rearmament plan.

The Army Dental Corps was established in March, 1911.

No Break Sighted In Strike at Ford

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The threat of a long and bitter struggle between the Ford Company of Canada and the United Automobile Workers CIO-CCL, hung uneasily over this city today as the strike of 5,700 production workers entered its second week.

There was no sign of settlement in the 10-month-old contract dispute, as neither party offered any new basis for settlement of the fight, which now has affected 10,000 workers in the widespread automotive empire.

Meanwhile, 800 strikers at the assembly plant in Oakville, midway between Toronto and Hamilton, continued to picket the factory. Workers there went on strike Friday to enforce their wage and fringe benefit demands.

Life of an army parachute under normal conditions is between four and five years.

Locals at both plants are demanding wage increases. Here, the workers seek four cents an hour. The Oakville employees are demanding 15 cents an hour, plus a five-cent-an-hour traveling allowance.

Present average wage at both plants is $1.69 an hour.

OUR HOUSE USED TO BE UP THERE...

Vignettes of The Great Storm

Mrs. Sydney Jameson was standing on Raymore Drive, one of the hardest-hit streets in suburban Etobicoke, when somebody asked where she lived. "Our nice house used to be at the top of the street," she replied. "Now it's all broken up at the bottom."

Four persons drowned in the Boyne River near Beeton just after being saved from their submerged car. The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Haugh and Haugh's uncle John, all of Egbert, and Robert Edgar of Baxter.

The Haugh car was swept off a bridge. The four clung to the vehicle for hours—but were drowned when the rescue boat which was floated out to them capsized.

Jackson Glassford, leading the rescue operators, said it took 200 feet of cable to feed the boat out to them. But just as the last one was getting in, a wave hit the boat and turned it over. All four were lost in the darkness.

The families of Kenneth Edwards and Mrs. Jean Neil—nine persons in all—were in their shared home on Raymore Drive when the flood struck. Mrs. Edwards and her daughter Caroline, 4, and Mrs. Neil were identified Sunday among the dead. Listed as missing and presumed drowned were Mr. Edwards, his small sons Frank, 3, and John, 3 months, and Mrs. Neil's children, Darlene, 6, Susan, 5, and Adele, 3.

A baby girl about four months old, who survived a chain of harrowing flood rescues, was identified today as Nancy Thorpe of Long Branch—probably an orphan.

Teen-aged Sylvia Jones said an unknown woman—perhaps the mother, Mrs. Pat Thorpe—handed her the baby when homes were being abandoned early Saturday in Long Branch. The girl took the baby to the rooftop.

The two were rescued later by the Lakeview fire department, but the fire truck bogged down while it was rushing the infant to hospital. In the ensuing confusion she somehow turned up in the arms of a Red Cross driver, who rushed her to St. Joseph's.

Hospital authorities said she was healthy and thriving after a meal and a nap.

26 BODIES IN LONG, STILL ROWS

Death's Sirens Wail in Islington

ISLINGTON, Ont. (CP)—All Sunday long the sirens wailed along the main street in this normally peaceful community across the Humber River from Toronto.

Almost as soon as one left another ambulance brought in the bodies of men, women and children swept to their deaths by the storm-swollen river.

By Sunday night 26 bodies had been brought to the red-bricked firehall on Dundas Street West, the temporary morgue. At the hall relatives waited patiently, some silent and staring, others clustered in little groups talking softly as they waited their turn to go up and identify a loved one.

The morgue was set up on the second floor of the hall, where the blanket-wrapped bodies were laid in rows.

Two bodies, a little girl and an elderly woman, were still unidentified. The 24 others were all residents of the low-lying section of Etobicoke which juts into a bend in the Humber River.

Only a few days ago it was a tranquil arpa like any other middle class Canadian community. Children played on the lawns and women gossiped over back fences. Sunday, it is a scene of utter desolation.

Vanished are the 18 houses which lined either side of Raymore Drive. All that remains is a wide expanse of broken pavement and stones.

A few of the houses which were not swept away by the muddy, swirling waters were carried off their foundations and deposited a few hundred yards downstream.

Some were miraculously left intact, others were crushed like accordions against more substantial dwellings.

Etobicoke township police were too tired to give any information to the press.

Everywhere it was the same story. "Look, bud, I haven't got time to talk to you now. I haven't been to bed since Thursday night."

Overhead or Underground

BY ITS ACTION LAST WEEK Saanich Council shelved, but did not solve, the problem of providing more power to a section of the municipality.

Responding to the feeling of a vigilant citizens' group, the council prevented, for the time being at least, the construction of overhead high tension lines from an existing substation to a projected distribution point in the Shelbourne area by refusing to rezone the latter site for substation purposes.

The municipal authority now plans to ask the Government to instruct the Public Utilities Commission to determine costs of an underground power line—an installation sought by the citizens' committee since the controversy opened. It is also considering an approach by referendum to the voters in December to determine their views on the acceptability of an overhead line.

This is the second occasion on which organized public action has halted the project planned by the B.C. Electric. But while this delay emphasizes property-owners' objections to overhead power lines, it has failed to overcome company objections to underground cables.

From the discussions so far it is evident that underground cable would be much more expensive than overhead lines. This is the case made by the B.C. Electric, which could presumably meet such costs by increasing rates for electricity.

The citizens' committee is not satisfied that costs would be as prohibitive as the company suggests. For that reason it seeks more information from sources not connected directly with the undertaking. The spokesmen for the committee, supported by municipal officials, have also made the point that if overhead lines were erected, property values would suffer substantially. That would lower assessments on which tax revenues are based, to say nothing of the more personal injury inflicted on the man who has invested his savings in a home and who does not want its value depreciated by overhead high tension lines.

This raises an important question. If property values are left undisturbed by use of underground wires, would the preservation of these values, both to the owner and to the municipality, provide compensation for the extra costs of the more expensive installation? Since property owners are also users of electricity, would they, in the long run, be money in pocket by paying more in power rates than suffering actual depreciation in the value of their homes?

The issue brought into local focus by Saanich is by no means limited to that district. It extends to various centres throughout the continent.

As the result of experience from recent hurricanes and floods in parts of the eastern United States, the advantages of underground wiring have been brought to public attention. The Massachusetts Legislature has now before it a proposal to institute searching inquiries into benefits and costs to see if underground cables are not more feasible than they appear at first glance.

Saanich is concerned with the problem for different reasons. And Saanich could be setting a pattern for the more densely populated areas of Vancouver Island.

An alternative to overhead wiring has been discussed on numerous occasions by the city of Victoria. Those discussions have, to date, produced no important results. The question of costs has invariably been the stumbling block.

It is conceivable, of course, that Saanich may finally accept overhead wiring if that is the only method by which it can acquire more power where it is needed. That is the local application of the problem. In its longer-range implications, however, the issue now before Saanich is one of concern and interest to all people in this community, as well as to those in more distant parts of the continent.

The council has acted wisely in seeking a dispassionate appraisal from a neutral body.

Out of Step With the Times

THERE APPEARS LITTLE prospect that the announced retirement of Prime Minister D. F. Malan of South Africa will make any difference in the governmental policy of that country in the foreseeable future. There are many of Dr. Malan's supporters who share his extreme prejudices in regard to race, and they may be expected to continue the policy of apartheid.

This is essentially a policy of segregation, with the white, colored (predominantly Asian) and black inhabitants living in artificially separated spheres. It has been fostered by Dr. Malan's National Party as a solution to the problem of protecting the interests of a small white minority in the predominantly black population. Objections have been raised to it on the basis of morals (Christian equality), politics (the party sought to remove names of colored voters from the common rolls), and feasibility (it produces a situation of tension that is bound to explode.)

However logical the plan may be in the eyes of the sponsors of apartheid, it is obvious that it is being imposed in an era when such an approach is out of step with the times. This is an age in which the dark-skinned peoples of the earth are demanding their place of equality in the scheme of things; they are seeking a taste of the benefits which the white man's technology have provided; they are gaining a position from which to examine the offerings of democracy, communism and other ideological systems and make their choice.

The Malan philosophy does not fit into such a picture. It seems to have no permanent place in the world of the second half of the twentieth century. And although it may be imposed for a time it must ultimately resort to force for its continuance—a last resort which is bound to call forth an equally violent reaction.

Remembrance Day Rumor and Fact

SPRINGING FROM A SOURCE as nebulous as Topsy's antecedents and growing on the nourishment which feeds rumors, an erroneous report has circulated to the effect that members of the armed forces had been ordered not to participate in Remembrance Day services.

The facts of the matter, as reported by the Times Ottawa correspondent, Victor J. Mackie, were published in this newspaper last week. The despatch from the federal capital carried a flat denial that Hon. Ralph Campney, Minister of National Defense, had issued any directive to Canada's armed forces against participation in cenotaph ceremonies with a religious content.

Some misinterpretation by a Toronto columnist of a 1953 directive was blamed for the misunderstanding. The actual statement last year cited provisions under the Queen's Regulations which say no man can be ordered to attend religious services other than the services of his own denomination.

Distorted from its original form, the supposed new directive was discussed and debated heatedly by churches and made its way into the deliberations of the Victoria presbytery of the United Church at Alberni last week. Protests against the rumored ban on armed services participation snowballed.

They are answered by the Mackie report. Perhaps this service will illustrate to some critics the efforts made by responsible newspapers to present correct information.

The incident should at least serve as an example of the manner in which a rumor spreads and the degree to which the public depends on honest reporting to correct mistaken impressions.

Press and Town Hall

READERS OF THIS NEWSPAPER probably noted the findings, published on Thursday, of a press council set up in Britain to consider newspaper ethics.

Following are excerpts from the Reuters summary of the report:

"It is wrong for members of a town council to treat the public affairs entrusted to them as if they were their own private concern, and to make arrangements for the spending of vast amounts of public money without giving the ratepayers ample opportunity to have their own say in the matter."

"A free and trusted press is the only ultimate safeguard of our democracy. The rights of the individual to express himself are precisely those of his newspaper. If those of the newspaper are whittled away, those of the individual are surely diminished."

Though the remarks repeated above were those of a British group, concerning conditions in Britain, they may be applied with equal force in this part of the Commonwealth. In the hope that they may furnish some guidance to particular groups in this community, they are again presented here.

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

IT WAS only the other day, in an out-of-the-way theatre, that I saw Walt Disney's "The Living Desert." I suppose I am the last person in North America to see it. (Old Death Valley Dave is rather isolated and dried up. But just sprinkle a little water on him and he bursts into flower.) I enjoyed most of the show, as I was meant to, though spiders and snakes and insects and scorpions and lizards are to me no laughing matter. I abominate them. I think the devil made them, and I am to that extent a Dualist or Manichee... one of those truly wicked heretics who imagine Satan to be a creator.

I WILL not quibble too much about the title of the show. A true, complete desert is a place where nothing lives, and in an almost complete desert you do not find mammals... not even camels, which are creatures of the bordering scrublands. In this picture there were bobcats and wild pigs and a sort of coon-fox called a coatimundi (is that spelt right?) and many other mammals. Semi-desert... But let that pass.

I will not let the music pass. It was so loud and so ugly that on three occasions I would have walked out if I hadn't had children with me. As I did walk out of "Snow White," years ago, because of the noise. I remained in my seat this time, but with my fingers tight in my ears. Do you suppose Walt Disney is going deaf, or anything like that?

FORTY years ago there was a silly little song called "Keep a-hammering on My Soul," and that's what Walt's music does. Walt Disney and His Rogues Elphants... what a name for a band! Imagine what would happen if you were enjoying the pictures in an art gallery, when all of a sudden, came Walt Disney and His Deaf Maniacs, all of them with steam trombones and atomic sousaphones and hydrogen horns and I don't know what and all. You'd be distracted, in both senses. You'd be out of your five wits.

Talking of noise. I was interested to read, in a book review, a Norwegian skipper's impressions of life in the Antarctic. ("The White Desert," by John Gievever. Chatto and Windus, 25s.) This is the official account of the Norwegian-British-Swedish Antarctic Expedition. After two winters, the author says, it wasn't the darkness or the silence of the polar night that began to bring the men near to a breakdown. No, it was noise. The noise of close quarters, of doors banging, of silly tunes hummed and whistled and repeated.

Mr. Disney would say, of course, that I must be a refugee from some polar wilderness myself, or from some desert, if I can't stand a little pandemonium for not much more than an hour. But he would be wrong. I can (and do) yell as loud as he can. It's just that we have different ideas about when to do it.

IF you will forgive a third quotation from "The Screwtape Letters" in one autumn, here is C. S. Lewis on Noise. You must remember that it is a devil speaking, and praising hell: "Every square inch of infernal space and every moment of infernal time has been occupied by Noise... Noise, the grand dynamism, the audible expression of all that is exultant, ruthless, and virile... Noise which alone defends us from silly qualms, despairing scruples, and impossible desires. We will make the whole universe a noise in the end. We have already made great strides in this direction as regards Earth. But I admit we are not yet loud enough, or anything like it. Research is in progress." This, by the way, reminds me of the boasting of my friend with a High Fidelity record-player!

I HAD always thought of the desert, and even the semi-desert, as rather a quiet place. But apparently Mr. Disney thought that there is no using having a howling wilderness unless you can hear it howl. "Like noises in a sound." It was nice to get home to my quiet house, where the only sounds were those of four children conducting a four-sided argument from four different rooms. When I got home I looked up spiders, and I found our North American tarantula is not a tarantula at all, but a trap-door spider. I also found that not all female spiders eat their husbands, which makes them seem more human... not all human wives eat their husbands either, but only about 95 per cent of them.

I know a dachshund named Gussie who lives in Santa Barbara, and I'll tell her this stuff about our not having any tarantulas. Gussie has several pet tarantulas that she plays with daily, and she loves them and they love her. If I told her they weren't tarantulas at all, it might ruin her life, though it might soothe her owner.

JUNGLE JIM I WON'T argue too much about what a desert is. But I'd advise you not to argue too much about what a jungle is, either. I was told the other day that jungle is a Hindi word meaning any wild spot, whether it has thick tropical growth or not. I looked this up, and by golly, that's right. But even more surprising, it comes from a Sanskrit word meaning any dried-up desert! The Sahara Jungle, the Gobi Jungle, the Kalahari Jungle—the Mohave-Jungle, and so on. Well, I'm glad, on the whole, that the Jungle Book is not about horned toads, spiders, rattlers, and gila monsters. With or without sound-track. Just imagine what would have happened if Mowgli had been brought up by tarantulas.

As Our Readers See It

LIFE AND LOTTERIES

The furore or hullabaloo that has arisen over the very word lottery was to be expected and quite in keeping with the Gilbertian times in which we move. But why, one wonders, should it be so, because all life—from the cradle to the grave—is all a game of chance or lottery?

All the give-away programs over the radio and elsewhere are all a form of gambling, or chance, and of course with enormous profit, indirectly, to the instigator or promoter.

Every word that is uttered or written is a gamble as far as the intelligence—or lack of it—construes or misconstrues—the sentence rather than the word alone. Placing a slip of paper in the ballot box is all a game of chance as we have so often proved through thinking in terms of the man or woman rather than the cause: "what do I get out of it?" rather than the community as a whole. All investments are a gamble as proved by the fluctuations of the stock exchange.

If lotteries can be run for the resultant good of the many, and the helpless, such as hospitals, our elder citizens, and the now overbearing financial burden of schools, one would never begrudge a "chance" reward to a small minority.

LAWN PARTY

May I give you a bit of news that might interest visitors to Victoria?

Copping from the mainland I picked up my daughter and family in Nanaimo and journeyed south to your city, which we reached in the afternoon. Incidentally, my son-in-law is a severely crippled arthritic who for years has not walked more than 200 feet at one attempt.

We wanted to see the coastline where the Island's butt sinks into Juan de Fuca Strait; so we somehow managed to hit it along Dallas Road (learning the geography afterwards.) Seeing a seat about 75 feet from the roadway we made for it in the car, lunched and enjoyed the view, then packed up and commenced to return to the city.

We had not the faintest idea that we were trespassing on any "lawn," since the spot we had chosen was nothing but a mess of weeds—the botanical nature of which I know quite well.

At this particular moment of our enjoyment a motor-bike cop spotted us and approached us with what looked like venom in his eye, demanded my driver's license (44 years' driving in Canada for me), took my license number and then slightly contemptuously insinuated that anybody with any sense of discrimination should know that this is a "lawn" not of course to be desecrated by car tyres.

This should have been the time for a big laugh, for your "lawn" thereabouts is not even grass. But I was too annoyed to laugh, since said cop persisted in demanding to know how long I intended to remain on Vancouver Island. I informed him that this was none of his blooming business, at which he threatened me with a quick visit to the lockup.

I backed off your "lawn" and rolled along towards the city particularly noting that there was no sign anywhere to warn visitors that they must keep off the grass or even that a park is in the vicinity.

Finally, did we get out of your town? Did we! We gave our your politics factory one quick side glance, saluted respectfully to the Empress opposite and scooted northward with our mental pigeonholes packed with acrimony and much new knowledge on the subject of lawns and grass.

Thank you. HARRY PICK. 3853 T.C. Highway, Abbotsford, B.C.

Across International Counters

By DR. WILLIAM ADAMS
Department of Economics, University of Manitoba
(From The Regina Leader-Post)

The basic economic argument for maintaining, and wherever possible expanding, international trade is straightforward. The productivity and income of any country is likely to be greater, if there is unrestricted international specialization and exchange, than if these are discouraged.

For example, Canada may export wheat to England in exchange for British woollens; alternatively, both countries might try to produce their own requirements of both goods. But Canada is relatively less suited to the manufacture of woollen textiles and England to the growing of wheat. Therefore, if the second course is followed, their combined output of wheat and woollen textiles will be less.

Nevertheless, measures which restrict international trade often benefit particular groups. They tend to raise the price of imported goods and thereby make the domestic producer better off at the expense of the rest of the economy. Thus, while advocates of free trade generally have economic logic on their side, often the supporters of a particular tariff have the necessary votes to obtain its acceptance. The proponents of international specialization and exchange are constantly in danger of being frustrated.

The exchange of wheat for woollens benefits both countries. Changes of prices affect the division of the benefit, which exists in any case, between the two countries.

If the price of wheat rises relative to textiles, the English textile worker is made worse off than he was. His income is unchanged, but the cost of living has gone up. Similarly, for the Canadian farmer, if wheat rises in price relative to English woollens, his income is increased while his cost of living remains unchanged. The higher the price of wheat relative to woollens, the greater is the benefit of this international trade to Canadians and the smaller that to the English.

But, although a moderate lowering of the price of wheat tends to make England better off at the expense of Canada, it does not follow that the larger the fall in wheat prices, the better off the English inevitably become. With any large fall in the wheat price, Canadian farm income may be drastically reduced. Then, the higher the price of wheat relative to woollens, the greater the damage to the economy may be dragged into a general depression and Canada's demand for imports tend to fall. Reduced incomes in Western Canada will mean unemployment in the mills of Lancashire and Yorkshire.

Thus, if the fall in the price of wheat is such as to cause unemployment in Canada, England will be adversely affected as well. But if the fall in wheat prices does not cause such unemployment, and Canadians continue to spend about as much on textiles as before, then the English are made better off.

Doubts Should Be Removed

By A. J. DRINKELL, in The Williams Lake Tribune

THE northern extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway is now generally recognized as being vital to our economic well-being and it is to the credit of the present government they are determined to proceed with its immediate construction.

As is usual in such matters there are opposing views as to the direction to be followed after leaving Prince George. One group advocates following the Pine Pass to Dawson Creek while another favors the Peace Pass via Finlay Forks.

Surprisingly few people are sufficiently well informed regarding the topography of the Peace River District to be able to pass an opinion; consequently it behooves the government to give wide publicity to their reasons for selecting the route they finally decide upon. An undertaking of this nature demands that taxpayers are in no doubt as to what they are paying for.

At our last hold-fort chairman Blunt, who has traveled extensively through the Peace River by saddle horse and pack outfit during the past thirty years, insisted there is but one logical route for this northern extension to follow and that is via Finlay Forks and Peace Pass.

He points out that the Pine Pass route reaches an elevation of 2,850 feet whereas the Peace Pass is 1,000 feet lower. Surely the railway directors have already had sufficient experience with heavy grades to avoid adding to their woes by building more of the same.

VAST DIFFERENCE

Entirely apart from this vast difference in climb, and worthy of equal consideration is the fact that to construct the line via Pine Pass would entail the destruction of much of the newly built Hart Highway. Brother Blunt further pointed-out the valleys in the Pine Pass area are not nearly as productive as those of the Peace River and its tributaries.

The timber resources of the Pine Pass are adequately served now by the Hart Highway so why destroy it, or parallel it? The small saving in mileage by following the Pine is more than offset by that additional 1,000 feet of climb which will burden us with heavy operating costs for all time.

On the other hand, says Mr. Blunt, after crossing the Arctic Divide near Summit Lake (just north of Prince George), which must be crossed regardless of whichever route is chosen, the Peace Pass offers a water grade right through to Hudson Hope and even beyond that point. The valleys of the Parsnip and the Peace are exceptionally fertile and contain an abundance of good farm land with excellent soil.

One glance at the map will show that Finlay Forks could not fail to become a most strategic junction. From there it would be possible to branch out along the Rocky Mountain Trench to the rich Cassiar district thence to the Yukon and also to the Taku-Atlin area, the site of the huge Frobisher development.

Chairman Blunt also visualizes a further branch from Finlay Forks to the vast mineral resources of the Omineca. He maintains the terrain in all these areas offers no serious construction difficulties, when using Finlay Forks as the point of commencement.

The United Kingdom has the most intricate network of railways to be found anywhere. A most unique feature of that system is that it is all on one level. Years and years of experience have taught them it is infinitely cheaper in the long run to construct tunnels, cuts, fills and viaducts than it is to buy fuel to climb mountains.

TOO MUCH HINDSIGHT

The CPR has found that true too, and the directors of the PGE should have done so. It is to be hoped that fact will be kept well to the forefront when deciding the exact location of the northern extension.

This province has already suffered too much from an abundance of hindsight so it will be particularly gratifying if just once a government looks farsightedly into the future and makes careful assessment of what appears so plainly upon our northern horizon when one peers through eyes undimmed by the mist of political expediency. A few votes here or there pale into insignificance in the vast expanse of future possibilities.

The preponderance of governmental activity in the Pine Pass area right now fills us with apprehension lest the truly wonderful economic panorama presented by the whole hinterland be obscured by the flashy daubs of a few industrious but unrealistic artists and once again a decision is rendered which holds the voting power immediately adjacent to a particular area to be paramount to the economic well-being of the province as a whole.

'Slogging' Courage

I ALWAYS hope she'll be free to serve me because I like her and bit by bit I'm piecing together her story.

She's a trim middle-aged woman with well-kept grey hair, and plump, capable, well-kept hands.

She always knows exactly what I want in the way of children's shoes, is quick and sensible, and, cutting through my dreamy indecision, directs me towards the shoes which always prove to have been a thoroughly good buy.

Years ago, she lived on the prairie, though I don't quite know where. They had a farm, and at one time, they had five children under school age, including, at the end, a set of twins.

For some reason that I've never figured out, her husband was away for almost a year when the twins were still quite small.

She ran the farm. There was no hired help at all. Night and morning, she milked several cows and fed two hundred hogs.

By the end, she was skin and bone, she says, but she came through it, and the children were all sound and well.

Her descriptions of the cold and the sub-zero temperatures horrify me, for I don't know the prairies except from the steam-heated comfort of the train. Which means, really, not at all.

On one bitter night, she told me, there was a sudden blizzard and they moved all the children down into the living room to sleep. It was the one room they could keep properly warm. And then her husband brought in eleven baby pigs, the newborn litter of their one prize sow.

She broke down and cried apparently. Her precious living room which she tried so hard to keep fresh and clean. And the children and the pigs, all penned up together.

"It was like coming down to the level of animals," she said. "But we had to do it. The pigs were our living. We couldn't afford to risk the chance of having them frozen to death."

She can laugh at it now, she says, but at the time it was almost more than she could take.

She tried so hard to keep the children clean and neat. But there seemed never any end to it. Especially in the winter with all those clothes to bundle them up in.

And nowadays, the children, who are married or in their late teens, won't believe her. They say they couldn't have lived like that. But they did, their mother tells them, and they weren't a mite worse off than all these kids that have everything handed to them easily.

When customers tell her that shopping leaves them quite exhausted, she has a little secret smile.

I'll bet she's remembering the early days of her married life, the fourteen cows, the two hundred hogs, and the five children under school age.

And there she is, trim and neat and cheerful. Though she doesn't know it, she makes me feel very humble.

And, often, when I think of courage, I think of the slogging, unspectacular, day-after-day courage of some of Canada's prairie women.

What a magnificent breed, and what a debt we owe them.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Created Free and Unequal

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

In a recent thought-compelling book ("Free and Unequal," University of Texas Press, Austin), Dr. Roger J. Williams, who isolated and identified vitamin B or thiamine, remarked that the oft-quoted phrase, "All men are created free and equal," is an unfortunate phrase of an earlier state, ment in the Virginia Bill of Rights which said that "All men are by nature equally free and independent."

As Williams said, there is a great difference in being equal and equally free. If all babies were born equal in abilities and character, then the modern standardized education in schools and colleges would be good. Actually, any thinking person who has had four children or more knows that in spite of the fact that they were born of the same parents and brought up in the same home environment, they are remarkably different. They are different in their abilities, their temperament, and in their likes and dislikes.

Today, nearly everyone teaches that environment is everything and a good heredity is of little value. They must be wrong. With a good heredity, nature deals a man a fine hand at cards, and with a good environment he learns to play the hand well. A few men get such a wonderful hand that they can hardly play it badly enough so that they can lose the game and make a mess of life. Other fellows get so bad a hand that, try as they will, they never can win much with it.

WIDE VARIATIONS

When I was a boy I used to marvel at the fact that some of my schoolmates were so gifted in some ways that, without training, they could do with ease things that, even after much training, I could never learn to do. Some were physically powerful, and born athletes; one of these was so quick that in boxing no amateur could ever lay a glove on him.

Some were born musicians, and could quickly learn to play an instrument; one was born a mathematician and could easily help me when I could not get my algebra lesson; one was so clever a gambler that few could ever beat him at poker; another was so shrewd in business that everything he touched turned to money; another was born so lazy that I doubt if ever in his life he earned an honest dollar.

One of my chums was so gifted in the field of electricity that, by the age of 17, he was earning his living by being a trouble-shooter for the local telephone company. As I remember, no one had to teach him his job; he just picked it up as a ham radio man picks up all he knows.

As Professor Williams said in his book, one of the most wonderful things about our America is that it permits all of us to go ahead and develop the several gifts that our good parents bequeathed us at conception. As a result, my chums became, according to their gifts and interests, athletic coaches, musicians, businessmen, bankers, and electrical, and I became a physician, a research worker, and a professor of medicine.

"CONTACT DERMATITIS"

A woman writes to say that her terrible itching proved to be due to her nylon panties. Now if she wears cotton or silk she is all right. Some time ago I wrote to say that in rare cases nylon stockings will produce an inflammation around the toes and on the bottom of the foot which looks much like that of athlete's foot. Because of this, a few companies make nylon hose with cotton feet. Some women cannot wear a nylon-brassiere without getting a red ring around the thorax.

Today, with new chemicals being discovered every week, chemicals which can irritate the skin of some persons, the physician must always be on the watch for "contact dermatitis." For instance, many a woman gets an eruption on her wrist due, perhaps, to the nickel alloyed into the "white gold" of her watch or its band.

I remember a man who, when he went hunting, used to get a severe inflammation of the skin of his legs. "On keeping a record, he found that this happened only when he wore a pair of knitted socks which had one red square in the front. When he took a little piece of this red square and bandaged it onto the skin of his upper arm he quickly developed an inflamed patch there. This proved that his trouble had been a contact dermatitis."

I remember a woman who came up from South America to see me. By the time she reached my office she had an itching skin eruption. Fortunately, this eruption had the distribution of a girdle so I asked her if she had bought a new one. She said, "Yes, the first thing I did on reaching this country was to buy myself an elastic girdle of the type I had been coveting, and could not buy at home." On throwing away the new girdle she soon lost the itching.

Occasionally, one sees a woman with swollen eyelids due to some cosmetic such as the enamel on her finger nails.

Cerebral Palsy Group Marks Milestone With Clinic Opening

HANDICAPPED LEAGUE PRESIDENT TO MARRY

Fred Blakeney, president of the League for the Handicapped, and Miss Beatrice Dykes, a member of the league, will be married Nov. 12.

The two were classmates in Tolmie School, but weren't especially close friends at that time. They met again at the organization meeting of the league last May.

The marriage will be solemnized at Mr. Blakeney's home, 2525 Empire Street.

'No Cats, More Rats' City Council Warned

Says Seaport Town Needs Feline Surplus to Control Rodents

A warning that Victoria may suffer from an epidemic of rats and mice if the city continues with its campaign to destroy all stray and unwanted cats, was made today by Mrs. Florence Barr, a former official of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

City council last week endorsed a war against cats in view of reports there is a big increase in the feline population. It instructed the City Pound to exterminate all unwanted and stray cats, free of charge.

Mrs. Barr questions the wisdom of the city fathers. While she agreed that the feline population must be kept down, she pointed out that Victoria is a seaport town and needs a surplus of cats to check the rats.

Opening Saturday by Lower Vancouver Island Cerebral Palsy Association's clinic by Health Minister Eric Martin marked a milestone in the group's two-year history.

Located in Jubilee Hospital annex, the clinic is now operating full time, although patients have been receiving treatment from a part-time staff.

About 150 persons, representing service clubs, lodges and other organizations interested in and contributing to the work of the association, attended the opening.

At present, 31 patients are being treated in the six-room clinic, taxing facilities close to capacity, said Mrs. E. McFadden, chairman of the association.

She explained the ceremony was to let the public know of the progress being made by the association and to demonstrate facets of its work.

Mr. Martin said the association "has resulted in a group of highly-qualified physicians contributing their combined help and guidance to the staff of the clinic."

Besides the medical staff of the hospital, headed by the superintendent, Dr. Murray Anderson, there is a physiotherapist, assistant physiotherapist, occupational therapist and speech therapist to help the recovery of patients.

Mr. Martin congratulated the organizations whose efforts made the clinic possible. "Keep up the good work because this clinic is actually the combined total of your activities," he said. Child patients hope shortly to be taken to school in a special bus if their condition permits attendance said Mrs. McFadden. Those confined to the clinic are given as much education as facilities and time permit.

Pythian Sisters were singled out for praise at the ceremony, since they formed the original committee leading to the organization's founding.

Secret Ballot Ignored in E. German Vote

Communists Claim 99% Victory

BERLIN (UP)—East German Communists claimed more than a 99-per cent victory today in Sunday's unopposed parliamentary elections that were ridiculed in the West.

The secret ballot was ignored as East Germans were marched to the polls to vote for 400 "nationalist front" candidates.

The Communists said 97.7 per cent of eligible voters in East Berlin voted. Of these, 875,026 voted for the Red ticket while 5,761 either spoiled their ballot or voted "no."

There was no explanation of how a "no" vote was cast, as the candidates were unopposed and there was no provision for a write-in.

How 59¢ Gives You Storm Window Protection This Winter!

Recently Developed Thermoplastic Costs Pennies — Lasts Years! Saves You Up to 20% on Fuel Bills This Winter Alone!

Who says storm windows are expensive? Now, thanks to the plastics industry, you can winterseal every single room in your house—and do it for just 59¢ a window.

Yes, now you can seal up your entire house from basement to attic with an amazing new type plastic storm window that actually weighs less than 16 ounces—that you can put up in 5 minutes flat—with no tools, no hooks, no clamps—a plastic storm window that won't rattle, peel or chip—that can withstand leakage of air regardless of virtually any storm pressure when used as directed—that can save you many dollars on fuel bills this winter alone.

And best of all, now for just a tiny fraction of what you would normally have to pay, you can have a plastic storm window that you can open or shut to circulate air in your home—so you can let in fresh clean refreshing air whenever you want it.

THERMOPLASTICS USED DURING AND SINCE WORLD WAR II BY UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT IN ALASKA, GREENLAND, ICELAND

Thermoplastic type "glass" is used by the U.S. Armed Forces to protect valuable equipment on ships, in planes, and on the ground. It is used for insulation by defense plants all over America.

The U.S. Government needed a new type of material that could withstand winter winds—a transparent material that would not crack, chip or shatter even in freezing weather—a flame-resistant material, that, properly applied, could last indefinitely.

WHAT THE PLASTIC INDUSTRY DISCOVERED

Thermoplastic! An amazing light-weight glass-like plastic that not only doesn't warp like old-fashioned storm windows—that not only resists rain, frost, hail, snow and wind—but a flame-resistant type of transparent "plastic glass" that actually seals out cold and seals in heat.

Over 1,000,000 home owners have already purchased Thermoplastic type storm windows. It's the first come, first served. Reserve your plastic storm windows now.

FIT AND STANDARD SIZE WINDOW—TAKES MINUTES TO PUT UP

Your Hold-Fast Thermoplastic is now designed for homeowners so that it can be trimmed to tightly fit all standard size kitchen, living room and bathroom windows no matter what the shape. And Hold-Fast Thermoplastic is so easy to put up, any housewife can install it in

SAVE ON FUEL BILLS THIS WINTER

No matter if the weather outside is gale wind pressure, Hold-Fast Thermoplastic storm windows help keep your home insulated. No matter how cold it is out-of-doors, Hold-Fast Thermoplastic storm windows help keep that cold out and the heat in. No wind, draft or dampness to ruin your comfort.

EVEN IF YOU ALREADY OWN STORM WINDOWS, HERE'S HOW HOLD-FAST THERMOPLASTIC SAVES YOU MONEY

Hold-Fast Thermoplastic is so inexpensive you can use it in places where bulky, old-fashioned, specially made storm windows would have to cost you a small fortune.

Use it to seal up those fuel-robbing sections of your home most people forget about—damp basements, drafty attics, open porches. Use it on your summer screen door and for just a few pennies you have a sturdy winter storm door. Use it to protect tools against dampness—use it to seal up your garden furniture, to seal up your boat, golf clubs, tennis rackets and other summer equipment.

THE SECRET OF THERMOPLASTIC'S STRENGTH LIES IN ITS "SPRING ACTION" STRETCH. Thermoplastic is only 1/20th the weight of window glass, yet has a tensile strength of 3,000 lbs. per square inch—withstanding up to gale wind pressure without even a rattle. Make this stretch test at home and prove to yourself that this amazing "Spring Action Wonder Material" stands more punishment than glass without shattering and always comes back to its original shape. Tough, rugged Hold-Fast Thermoplastic helps seal out winter cold and helps keep your home snug and warm even in freezing temperatures.

Hold-Fast Thermoplastic Helps Seal Out Drafts — Saves Average Homeowner Many Dollars in Fuel Yearly

TRANSPARENT HOLD-FAST THERMOPLASTIC seals out cold and seals in heat. Protects you and your family from bone-chilling drafts and dampness. Keeps your home snug and warm all winter long—no matter how cold the weather.

Read These Facts Before You Buy Any Storm Windows

Do your windows turn moist and foggy on cold winter days? Then you need storm windows. Why? Science tells us that the moisture on your window pane is proof that cold air is seeping into your home and valuable heat is escaping.

It's proof that you are actually losing from as much as 5 to 15 degrees of heat every cold day. It's proof that storm windows can save you as much as 20% on fuel bills this winter.

But a lot of homeowners simply don't realize that if their storm windows are even slightly warped, loose or ill-fitting, if they are not tightly caulked, if they have storm windows with the tiniest leak, then that leak can slash insulation by as much as 50% and rob your home of heat.

That's why for 100% air-tight insulation, wooden storm windows must be stored away carefully to avoid warping. That's why aluminum storm windows should be caulked yearly.

You can install Hold-Fast Thermoplastic in just minutes. Amazing Hold-Fast seals windows tight. No wind or air can leak around the sides and Thermoplastic when used as directed can't warp, peel, chip or shatter.

ONLY PLASTIC STORM WINDOW THAT OPENS AND SHUTS

Unlike any other plastic storm windows, you can instantly have fresh ventilation simply by opening your Thermoplastic window, never letting air grow stagnant and unhealthy. Simply pull up Hold-Fast edge and your storm windows open. Simply press the Hold-Fast edge back and presto your storm window is closed. To clean your Thermoplastic storm windows, simply wipe them with a damp cloth—no messy washing necessary. Hold-Fast Thermoplastic storm windows are transparent...and they cost you only 59¢ each. Take 2 windows. Leave one unprotected. Seal one with Hold-Fast Thermoplastic. Place a wind fan directly outside each window. Place a lighted candle behind each window and turn on your fan.

When wind velocity reaches 30 miles per hour the unprotected window will start to rattle and let drafts leak through...drafts strong enough to almost blow out the candle. Drafts that can lower the temperature of your home by 15 to 20 degrees...drafts that may add up to 20% to your fuel bills. # Sailors Rally To Trip Cadets

Venture 12, Royal Roads 10, Oak Bay 15, C & C Taxi 11
HMCS Venture naval cadets fought back from a 10-0 deficit at the half to pull out a thrilling 12-10 victory over Royal Roads cadets at Creery Field Sunday.

The victory gave Venture first place in the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League and probably qualified them as the team that will represent Victoria in the B.C. finals in Vancouver early in November.

At Macdonald Park, another last-ditch rally paid off as Oak Bay Drakes pulled out a 15-11 victory over C & C Taxi for their first win of the season.

Royal Roads moved into a 10-0 lead in the first half on converted touchdowns by Law and Brown.

However, Venture's Toronto-born fullback Fred Hallas scored a pair of majors and booted a single in the second half to supply the winning margin for Venture and Chuck Thomas passed to Grant Lawson for one of the converts.

CORBETT SCORES TWICE

Oak Bay quarterback Gary Corbett led the way for his club, scoring two touchdowns on runs of 20 and one yard.

Two plays after the opening kickoff, C & C Taxi scored a converted touchdown but Corbett went 20 on a keeper play to leave his club trailing, 6-5 at the half.

Corbett scored his second major in the third quarter but Taxi-men took an 11-10 lead with five minutes left in the game.

With less than a minute left, Buddy French capped a 50-yard march by plunging one yard for the winning touchdown.

SPARE EQUIPMENT UP FOR SALE

B.E.G. Charged With Quibbling

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Empire Games committee, with $60,000 showing in red ink from the July 29-Aug. 7 games here, has another headache—disposal of surplus equipment originally valued at $20,000. Included in it are spare parts for broad jump pits, used pole vault poles and bent bars.

The committee wants to sell the goods and use the money to chisel down the deficit. The British Columbia branch of the Amateur Athletic Union is plumping for donation of the equipment to organizations which used the stuff in the games.

A special protest meeting was held Saturday. The games committee was charged with "quibbling over pennies" and one group, the fencing, said it intends to carry the case to the Calgary Stampede, at one stage this season considered the "powerhouse" of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, now can get into the three-team playoff only if Winnipeg Blue Bombers or Edmonton Eskimos lose all three remaining games.

The Stampede were forced into this position when beaten, 19-8, by Saskatchewan Roughriders in Regina Saturday afternoon, a few hours before Edmonton Eskimos trounced British Columbia Lions, 31-3.

A chance to prolong this mathematical chance is given Larry Siemering's Calgary entry when they invade the Manitoba capital tonight to meet Blue Bombers in Stamp's last game this season, while Edmonton is in Vancouver wrestling with the hapless Lions.

In one three-game burst this season, the Stamp scored 109 points while holding the opposition scoreless, beating both Sas-

Connie Mack's Long Career Comes to Close

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An eight-man Philadelphia syndicate made a dramatic last-minute purchase of the Philadelphia Athletics Sunday night. The action saved American League baseball for this city and ended the baseball life of one of the game's greatest figures, 91-year-old Connie Mack.

Months of confusion and indecision over the status of the Athletics was ended when the syndicate of wealthy and prominent Philadelphians bought out Connie and his son Earle Mack, and made a one-ninth partner of Roy Mack in a $4,000,000 deal.

The syndicate moved with startling speed in concluding the deal that kept the A's from being transferred to Kansas City. It was only last Tuesday that the American League met in Chicago and approved sale of the club to Arnold Johnson, Chicago businessman who wanted to take major league baseball to Kansas City. Roy Mack was given until 11 a.m. EST 10 a.m. CST, today to make up his mind on whether to sell to Johnson.

The new group, which has asked president Will Harridge of the American League to approve the purchase agreement, paid Connie Sr. $604,000 for his 302 shares, and gave Earle $450,000 for his 163 shares. It assumed liability for a $1,200,000 mortgage held by the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. The balance of the $4,000,000 will be used to pay off other indebtedness and as working capital.

Roy was given $450,000 for his 163 shares, but he reinvested $250,000 in the new ownership group as a partner.

The new owners plan to meet early this week to reorganize the club, elect officers and a board of directors.

Johnson who flew here late Sunday night in a desperate last-minute effort to forestall the Philadelphia deal, was stunned at the news Roy had signed away the team to the local group.

"I can't understand it," he said in international airport. "I offered Roy a much better deal. He would have been a vice-president at a high salary and a key factor in the Kansas City setup. I promised to give him, Connie Mack III, a five-year training course and make a baseball man out of him. I offered him the moon, and now what has he got, a one-ninth interest in nothing. His son won't have a chance in this group."

Roy has been guaranteed a one-year contract at his present $25,000 salary by the new group.

Russian Champs

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Moscow Dynamos, who defeated the British Arsenal team 5-0 here earlier this month, Sunday became the Soviet Union soccer champions, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Dynamos finished with 33 points out of a possible 48.

Moscow Spartak, champions for the last two seasons, finished second with 31 points.

back Ken Carpenter, formerly of Cleveland Browns, and quarterback Frank Tripucka, once with the defunct Dallas Texans, and a single kicked by quarterback Larry Isbell from Baylor University.

Eddie LeBaron, the deceptive little quarterback from Washington Redskins, counted a touchdown and kicked a single for Calgary. Stamp's other points were scored on a single and a convert by end Tom Miner, formerly of Tulsa University. Miner's two points kept him comfortably in first place in the WIFU scoring race with 77 points.

In Edmonton the scorers for Eskimos were halfback Jackie Parker and Rolfe Miles, with two touchdowns each; halfback Edward Lippman, with one, and tackle Bob Dean with five converts and a single.

British Columbia's points were scored on a 29-yard field goal kicked by halfback Al Polgard.

Kansas City Dejected But Unbowed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"We had opened our heart and our home to someone who appeared in need of shelter."

That's what L. P. Cookingham, city manager of Kansas City, said when told Sunday night Philadelphia Athletics had been rescued by their homefolk and wouldn't be coming to Kansas City.

Mr. Cookingham's statement summed up the feeling of Kansas City's bigwigs and ticket-buying baseball fans who only last Tuesday night did a jig at the word American League owners had approved sale of the Athletics to Arnold Johnson, Chicago financier.

Johnson, of course, was intent of moving the franchise to Kansas City.

Cookingham, outwardly disappointed that a "sure thing" had backfired and that Kansas City, for the time at least, would be denied a major league franchise, added:

"Kansas City remains a major league city without a major league baseball team."

HUTCHINSON SIGNS WITH RAINIERS

SEATTLE (AP)—Freddie Hutchinson, field pilot of Detroit Tigers for two seasons, came back home Saturday to sign as manager for three years of the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers.

Hutchinson got his professional baseball start here, winning 25 games as a kid pitcher with Rainiers in 1938. At Seattle, Hutchinson succeeds Jerry Priddy, Rainiers' pilot for one season.

Defensive Aid Still Being Sought

Westminster 7, Victoria 2
Calgary 8, Saskatoon 3

Victoria Cougars traveled to New Westminster Saturday night. But the trip wasn't worth much, except to the Royals.

For the Royals not only hobbled the Cougars with a 7-2 defeat, but they decided for the time being at least, to keep the Cougars that way by not making any of their excess players available.

Cougar general manager Fred Hutchinson reported that nothing came of player discussions with co-owner Kenny MacKenzie of the Royals. Hutchinson had hoped to secure the services of a defenseman to fill the void left by the injury to rookie Bill Bucyk and also to fill the void that must have existed at the times the Royals were exploding seven goals into the net.

It was originally believed that Bob Bergeron or Jim Bedard would be available, but both played Saturday. And now it is unlikely that anything will be resolved in this direction until after the Royals return from their first trip to the prairies.

Hutchinson intimated that he would seek aid elsewhere.

In the game the Cougars actually had the Royals in hand for a period. Doug Anderson scored in the second minute of the game and it stayed that way until Gordon Fashoway got the equalizer at 1:20 of the second period.

A penalty to Pete Durham, his third, enabled the Royals to apply sufficient pressure to be rewarded with the tie-breaker at 17:35 of the second period. Guyle Fielder scored.

The Royals pumped in five more tallies before Gene Achty-michuk scored for the Cougars at 14:19 of the third.

NEW HOCKEY ARENA MOOTED IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $3,000,000 hockey arena and auditorium may be constructed here, officials of the Pacific National Exhibition announced Sunday.

PNE president J. S. C. Moffitt said his organization has opened negotiations for purchase of a half interest in the Western Hockey League franchise held by Vancouver Canucks. Canucks franchise is owned by Coleman E. Hall.

"If these negotiations are successfully concluded," said Mr. Moffitt, "it will greatly assist the PNE in its efforts to build a modern coliseum at Exhibition Park."

Mr. Moffitt said the coliseum, if built, would have 8,500 seats with facilities to increase the seating capacity to at least 10,000.

BAYS, ESQUIMALT DRAW

Heaney's Increase City Soccer Lead

Heaneys extended their league lead in the Victoria and District Football Association over the week-end although Esquimalt managed to stay close to the pace.

Heaneys defeated Victoria West, 4-1, Saturday, while Esquimalt and JBAA battled to a scoreless draw Sunday afternoon.

Esquimalt had a slight edge in the goalless battle with Bays both clubs missing several goal scoring opportunities. Rival goalies Archie McMillan and Dave Unwin were both spectacular. McMillan in particular playing a tremendous part in the final result.

Stan Wiseman was the central figure in Heaney's victory. Wiseman got two goals while Nelson Crisp duplicated the performance. George Brown scored West's first goal on a pass from Len Scott while the second counter came from a goalmouth scramble after goalie Jack Donald had juggled Brown's drive.

Heaneys held a wide edge in play with Wiseman contributing much to the attack. Arnold Ferguson anchoring a fairly solid defence.

Second division results over the week-end produced a four-way tie for the lead.

Jim Harrison scored two goals for Tillium's in a 2-2 tie with Butler Bros., a result which moved both clubs into a tie for the lead alongside Canadian Scottish and Duncan.

Duncan defeated Combines 7-1 Saturday, while Scottish blanked Wood Motors, 4-0.

Eugene Thorne scored three goals for Duncan, others going to Ross Modeste (2), Percy Modeste and Martin. Craig Massie scored for Combines.

Jim Davidson and Rookie Wright each netted a pair for Scottish.

In Sunday's other second division match Dutch Wanderers defeated Punjab United, 3-2.

SCHEDULE
In first division action next week-end Esquimalt meets Heaneys at Athletic Park, Saturday, while JBAA plays Victoria at Heywood Ave., Sunday.

Second division contests pit Butlers against Punjab United at Reynolds Road, and Scottish against Duncan at Heywood, Saturday. Wood Motors meet Tillium at Bullen Park and Combines test Dutch Wanderers at Central on Sunday.

All matches start at 2:30.

TABLE TENNIS OPENING

Play in the Victoria Table Tennis League opens at the Club Sirocco tonight at 7:30.

City Ruggers Lose; Pail Stars for VRC

Victoria English rugby teams are still looking for their first victories in their intercity competition with Vancouver sides, and one reason why was ably demonstrated here Saturday afternoon.

The powerful Rowing Club of Vancouver, led by George Pail, defeated Oak Bay Wanderers, 31-13, in a match replete with fine play. It was easily one of the top rugger matches seen here in some seasons. Pail was the most spectacular figure of the wide-open running game as he scored four tries.

Meanwhile at Vancouver, JBAA faced in the final minute of play to drop an 11-9 decision to Vancouver Vindex. It was Bays' third loss.

Gary Pynn scored all of ing the way with four and three goals each. Ed Scrimpett scored twice and singles were scored by Bud McLaren and Bob Urchison. Fred Middleton was the only Regiment scorer.

ANAF Veterans took over first place in Division II, handing Eagles a 6-2 licking. Otto Chuedon and Ken Leibel scored two goals each for the winners. Gary Leibel and Lance Rutherford chipping in with single goals.

Wings Win, Lose

Conn Smythe's Toronto Maple Leafs haven't done a thing so far in the National Hockey League campaign to indicate their boss could have been wrong about them.

The outspoken Smythe predicted in a preseason survey of the league that the Leafs would not finish any better than fourth. The way they've been playing they must believe it themselves.

The Leafs haven't won a game yet after four starts and only the fact that Chicago Black Hawks are floundering around as usual has kept them out of the cellar. The Leafs have managed two ties in their four games to keep a single point ahead of the sixth and last-place Hawks.

The Leafs had to settle for another tie Sunday night when Boston Bruins snatched victory from them with little more than a minute to play with a goal that deadlocked the score at 1-1. The tie came on top of a 4-2 defeat that the New York Rangers handed the Leafs in Toronto Saturday.

RED WINGS DEFEATED

The week-end was also noted for the first defeat of the season for the Stanley Cup champion Detroit Red Wings. They lost 3-1 to Montreal Canadiens in Detroit Saturday night. The champions came back Sunday night in Chicago to trounce the Black Hawks 5-2. It was the winless Hawks' fourth loss against one tie.

The old manoeuvre of yanking a goalie for an extra forward in the dying seconds took away the Leafs' hopes for their first win. Rookie left-winger Don McKenney scored at 18:43 to enable Boston to tie the Leafs Sunday. It was his fourth goal of the season.

The Leafs had held a one-goal lead from the 11:29 mark of the second period, when George Armstrong scored his first goal of the season with Leo Labine of Boston in the penalty box.

Danny Lewicki, a recent cast-off from the Leafs, scored the winning goal for the Rangers against the Leafs Saturday night after six minutes of the second period.

Alex Delvecchio, Johnny Wilson, Ted Lindsay, Benny Wolf and Glen Skov scored for Detroit against Chicago. Goals by Dick Gamble and Frank Martin of the Black Hawks tied the count at 2-2 at one stage but the Hawks couldn't do a thing after that.

LEONARD WINS PLAYOFF FOR B.C. OPEN CROWN

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stan Leonard of Vancouver shot a sizzling three-under-par 68 here Sunday to capture his fourth British Columbia Open golf championship in an 18-hole playoff with Portland's John Langford, who shot a par 71.

The playoff was the second in the tightly-contested $1,500 Open that saw Leonard, Langford, Doug Bajus of Vancouver and veteran Chuck Congdon of Tacoma tied at the end of the regulation 54 holes Oct. 9. Leonard and Langford remained tied after the first 18-hole playoff a week ago that eliminated the other two.

Etcheverry Sets Pace As Als Thump Ti-Cats

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Sam "The Rifle" Etcheverry from Denver University is fast proving to football fans that he is the slickest quarterback to show in eastern Canada in years.

The 24-year-old signal-caller fired five touchdown passes Saturday as the power-laden Montreal Alouettes thumped Hamilton Tiger-Cats 46-11 in a Big Four game tabbed as a preview to the league playoffs.

The victory clinched a Big Four playoff spot for the Als and indications are they will meet the second-place Ticats, now four points behind. The three-place Toronto Argonauts, another four points in the rear, kept their playoff hopes alive with a 27-11 decision over the Rough Riders at Ottawa.

Etcheverry took one quarter to warm up to his task at Montreal and then methodically picked holes in Hamilton's pass defense. Five touchdowns came on pass plays—one traveling the length of the field.

Although there are no league records, the 586 yards gained passing is believed to be an all-time high. No quarterback has succeeded in gaining even 400 yards through the air in the Big Four in recent years.

WIRKOWSKI PITCHING
At Ottawa quarterback Nobby Wirkowski tossed two touchdown passes and set up another major win for his airmails as Argonauts defeated Rough Riders before about 9,000 fans.

Wirkowski's touchdown passes were caught by a couple of hard running halfbacks, first-year import Gene Wilson and home-brew Johnny Fedosoff.

Wilson, former South Carolina star, caught a 13-yard pass for his first major in the second quarter. At the start of the second half he ran 25 yards from scrimmage for his second touchdown.

Fedosoff ran 20 yards for a touchdown in the last quarter after taking a 20-yard pass from Wirkowski. A 40-yard touchdown run by import Billy Cross on the return of Avatus Stone's first punt of the game forced an uphill battle on the Rough Riders.

Hecker, big pass-catching end from Los Angeles Rams, kicked all four conversions and booted a 13-yard replacement after a 60-yard advance by Argos.

Riders got touchdowns from

BLANK NAVY

Drakes Ready For Grid Final

Oak Bay Drakes, with their bruising line taking care of the defense and most of the offense, wound up their Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League schedule Saturday by whitewashing Navy, 10-0, at Macdonald Park.

As Drakes already had their playoff berth clinched and Navy was previously eliminated, there was nothing at stake and the game did not produce too much exciting football.

For Navy, it was the last chance to secure their only win of the season and they missed. For Drakes, it was the final game before they meet Vampires in the first game of a two-game total-point playoff next Saturday.

Although Drakes' backfield was inclined to stall Saturday, their hefty line went both ways and accounted for the majority of the scoring.

Centre Dick Irving had himself the kind of day that line-men dream about. Irving dropped a Navy ball-carrier in his own end zone for a safety and also scored a touchdown by punting on a fumble behind the Navy goal line.

Both clubs went to the air frequently. Navy's Val Reiger and Jerry Stillson tossing 22 times and completing seven. Drakes were just about hopeless passing, completing only one screen pass in 45 attempts and having three intercepted.

After giving up all 10 points in the first half, Navy came back in the second half and carried most of the offensive play. Reiger completed several long passes to sure-handed Ray Sherbino for, long gains but Navy was unable to crack the Oak Bay line for any long thrusts.

FIRST POINT
Fullback Ken Higgs booted 40 yards to the deadline for Oak Bay's first point of the game and Drakes went ahead 3-0 minutes later when a Navy backfielder fumbled a snap, recovered in his end zone but was pulled down by Irving.

In the second quarter, Navy fumbled on their own 23, an Oak Bay player dribbled the ball into the end zone where Irving grounded it for the only touchdown of the game. Pete Turko converted to make it 10-0.

Turko, who played most of the game on defense, brought the crowd to its feet in the first quarter when his field goal attempt from the Navy 45 hit the crossbar and bounced out.

City Booters Start Too Late

Vancouver City 4, Victoria City 1
Victoria City and Vancouver City played 75 minutes of highly interesting and highly competitive football at Athletic Park Saturday afternoon and actually broke even on the play in that period of time.

Unfortunately for Victoria City, however, the 15 minutes that preceded that time wasn't as productive—for Victoria.

The strong Vancouver City side rammed in three goals in 15 minutes to take a 3-0 lead against an unsettled local club, a lead they parlayed into a 4-1 triumph.

Such wasn't the case from then on. And Victoria was admirable in that the youngsters stuck to their task and could have been better rewarded.

The first Vancouver sortie produced a goal, indirectly, as it happened. Bill Bamford was called for hands when a shot by John Clifford was in danger of entering the goal and, on the resulting penalty kick, John Cowan made no error.

Clifford, a former member of the Stenhouseuir team of Scotland, and one of the fastest and accomplished wingers seen here in many a day, got the second counter at 14 minutes when he tricked his way through the middle to beat goalie Pete Winter cleanly.

A minute later, Bruce Ashdown made no mistake on a first timer from 10 yards out. City retaliated through Harry Carruthers on a cross from Bill McMillan who had by now taken over from Dave Wakelyn at right half. McMillan narrowly missed scoring shortly before the intermission when his long drive bounded off an upright.

CLOSE
Carruthers was home free only to miss also before the half, while Bill Hope hit the cross bar in the second half on City's best opportunities.

Ashdown scored the final Vancouver goal just before time when centre-half John Pickburn's clearance attempted rebounded off a Victoria player right to him. Winter was well beaten on the shot.

Victoria City's next home game is against St. Andrews on Oct. 30.

In other Coast League action North Shore United defeated Firefighters, 2-1, and New Westminster Royals trounced St. Andrews, 4-1.

Tom Cooper and Bob Bruce scored for North Shore, Shores' Gordon Nordby putting the ball in his own net for Firefighters tally.

Lex Henderson got two goals

Quebec Pact Won't Hurt Rest of Canada

Garson Says Agreement Ottawa Has With Other Provinces Remains Valid Until 1957

STONEWALL, Man. (BUP)—Justice Minister Stuart Garson believes that whatever arrangements the federal government made with Quebec in taxation jurisdiction, benefits gained by other provinces under the current tax rental agreements would remain.

He told a Selkirk by-election meeting that the current agreements were binding contracts until March 31, 1957.

"Unless the provinces who have signed these agreements are prepared to agree to their cancellation now while they still have two and one-half years to run, the tax agreements are bound to remain in effect and to cover the relationships between the federal and provincial governments to which they will apply," Garson said.

Garson said the premiers and treasurers of other provinces "are not going to throw away the benefits of the present tax agreements except for an alternative that will leave them at least as well off as they are under the agreements."

"Until the wartime and post-war tax agreements were signed, Garson said, Manitoba's provincial tax load was the heaviest of any province in Canada. Now it is the lightest and the province received $25,000,000 annually from the federal treasury as "rent" on a provincial tax field that formerly had netted the province only $5,500,000 annually.

Dr. A. W. Peart, assistant secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, told the convention of the Canadian Association of Medical Students and Internes here that the television series will be added to the group's public relations program.

The medical profession has been taking a beating from the press, he said, and "we recognize the need for informing the public of our work."

Peart said the series will be the work of the Los Angeles Medical Society.

$900 a Month Hospital Loss As B.C. Lottery Closes Down

NORTH VANCOUVER (BUP) — A lottery which operated here for 17 years and gave more than $150,000 to the North Vancouver Hospital closed down voluntarily Saturday.

Hospital authorities said the closure, ordered because of the current crackdown on lotteries, would be a serious blow as it had provided $900 a month to meet running costs.

Hospital chairman Tom McMillan said most of the hospital's special equipment was financed by the sweepstake and he also disclosed that the community ambulance operated by the North Vancouver fire department was financed from the same source.

The lottery was run by the local Elks Lodge. Tickets costing 50 cents had been sold openly in stores and cafes here for 17 years. About 5,000 tickets were sold monthly and 55 cash awards were given, with a top prize of $300.

Don Currie, exalted ruler of the Elks Lodge, said his organization had stopped the lottery of its own accord without any prodding from police.

Gets Life at 11

NEW DELHI (AP) — An 11-year-old boy, convicted of slaying a nine-year-old playmate in order to steal his gold rings, was sentenced to life imprisonment, reports reaching here from Khamsi in central India said today.

The U.S. post office department handles more than 50,000,000 pieces of mail annually, combined with the rest of the world.

TWO FOR THE SHOW

(B) "INDISCRETION OF AN AMERICAN WIFE" (Capitol): There is little doubt that the average theatre-goer, seeking action and relief from his everyday cares in his film fare, will find this Italian-American effort a trifle on the boring side.

Unluckily this should never have been. For the film has one of the best directors in the business—Mr. Vittorio de Sica, famed for his "Bicycle Thief" and "Shoeshine."

It has as stars Miss Jennifer Jones (Academy award, "Song of Bernadette," 1943), and Mr. Montgomery Clift (Oscar-nominee for his role in "From Here to Eternity").

As a matter of fact, all it what story it has got takes place mostly in a Rome railway station. This results, eventually, in the feeling that the plot has become static, frozen, lacking in movement.

What is more, the story is humdrum and banal.

IN BRIEF, IT concerns an American housewife, Miss Jones, who falls in love with an Italian professor, Mr. Clift. For ninety minutes it is very heart-rending. The prof wants her to stay on while she waits for him to return to the U.S. and hubby and child. At the end it is touch-and-go when police find them love-making in an empty coach and charges are laid.

It was the third serious seizure Skouras has suffered in the past two years. Skouras, several times listed as the nation's top money earner, is the brother of Spyros Skouras, head of 20th Century-Fox studio, and George Skouras, head of United Artists Theatre Corp., both in New York.

Experts Report On Sleep Pills At Murder Trial

Mrs. Bell's Hearing Continues in Ont.

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (BUP) — Experts prepared a report today on whether a packet of sleeping pills could have contained the strychnine that killed Mrs. Mary Bell's husband.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, presiding at Mrs. Bell's murder trial, ordered the pills analyzed during the week-end and a report brought to court today.

The Crown had claimed that Mrs. Bell killed her husband by spiking his bedtime cocoa with strychnine. When Dr. Ward Smith identified an exhibit of sleeping pills as ones that had been handed to him by police, the chief justice asked him to test them for strychnine.

The Crown established in Smith's testimony that Percy Bell had at least half a grain of strychnine in his stomach after his death, the minimum lethal dose. Smith said, however, that since the stomach had been drained before he was called in, he thought that must have been "a very small fraction" of the total dose.

WOULD OPEN SCHOOLS 12 MONTHS

BURNABY (CP) — The school board here is studying a proposal under which schools would be open 12 months a year.

Trustee Fred Salisbury, who proposed the plan, said it would offer summer courses on a voluntary basis to students of both elementary and secondary schools. Certain schools would be kept open during July and August for "remedial" classes, and to provide so-called "frill" courses.

DUNK CLUB PRESIDENT

1,000 Patrons Jam Fair at Brentwood

By E. T. FREEMAN

BRENTWOOD — Brentwood and district residents "got together" Saturday evening to demonstrate what can be accomplished by organized community effort.

The country fair held in the Community Hall on Wallace Drive was declared by president Howard Wood to be the most successful yet staged. More than 1,000 people jammed the large hall.

Sponsors of the fair were the Community Club, Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce, Women's Institute, PTA branch, and local groups of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides.

Exhibits and games lined the sawdust-covered floor, and there was not a vacant seat in the giant bingo game occupying the centre of the hall. Rom Knott, assisted by George Hafer, Stan Bickford, C. Covell and Claude Sluggert, had charge.

Ray M. Lamont demonstrated the development of the turkey raising industry in the district.

DUCKING POOL

The most amusing feature while it lasted was the "ducking pool" rigged up on the stage and run by Don. McMuldrough, Harry Baade and Al. Vickers. Much to the discomfiture of Howard Wood, club president, and bathing beauty Lois Holloway, who were unceremoniously dumped when a thrown ball scored a bull's-eye, there appeared to be plenty of youthful pitchers with an ability to find the centre of the plate.

Hobby show judges were: Mrs. William S. Ellis and H. Marshall. Conveners of this exhibit were Mrs. Roy Clemett, Miss M. Hamilton and Mrs. R. Knott. The show was in the enlarged lower floor of the building.

Yeggs Crack Nanaimo Safe; Steal $565

Enter Building Through Window

NANAIMO—Thieves that broke into the Home Oil Co. office on Stewart Avenue on the week-end opened the safe and escaped with $565 in cash.

The break-in was discovered at 10 a.m. Sunday by George Race, company driver, who went to the plant to check his vehicle.

W. O. Clarke, resident manager, said the burglars gained access through a rear window leading to a washroom.

The dial of the safe had been knocked off.

"It was a slick job and looked neat enough for professionals," he said. "Credit cards and other papers were left in order. Only the cash was taken — receipts from Saturday's business."

The cracksmen broke a padlock and escaped through sliding doors between the office and warehouse.

The burglary took place between 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday morning, police said. There have been no arrests.

Loss was covered by insurance.

Duncan Ambulance Operators Seek Financial Help

DUNCAN—Private operators of the only ambulance in the city and immediate area are appealing for direct financial support as an alternative to stopping the service.

Letters have gone to Duncan and North Cowichan municipal councils, hospital directors and the Chamber of Commerce pointing out that revenues are insufficient to maintain the service and that unless support is found the firm must sell the vehicle.

Formerly the district operated its own ambulance but with the growth of separate public financed ambulances at Chemainus and Lake Cowichan the service has been in the hands of a private taxi firm in the city for over six years.

The same firm has handled the ambulance for 20 years, both as a public service and later as a private venture. It is believed likely that a meeting will be held to review the situation.

Crewmen Saved When Tug Sinks

Runs Aground on Reef in Straits; Nearby Fishpacker Makes Rescue

(From Canadian Press Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—Heavy seas almost claimed the lives of seven seamen when the 68-ton tug Broughton Straits naumo, Sunday.

Saved from the wreck were Captain Gordon W. Stuart and six crew members, all from Vancouver.

The tug was en route to Campbell River with a barge carrying a 50-ton diesel shovel when it ran onto the reef.

Flares shot by Second Engineer Neil Neilson were spotted by a nearby fish packer, the Wawaneesa, which rushed to the scene and launched her boat and took off the stricken vessel's crew.

Crewman Richard Gridly dropped into the sea when he fell from a rescue ladder on the Wawaneesa, but Boris Sarnoff dived into the water and pulled Gridly to safety. Both men were taken to Nanaimo General Hospital, where they were treated for shock and exposure, but they were released later Sunday and returned to Vancouver.

Two other tugs picked up the barge and towed it to safety and the tug Nanaimo Tyee was sent to take the barge to Campbell River.

The stricken vessel was reported to be resting on the reef and a tug and salvage crew have been dispatched to the scene.

Hunters Warned Of Water System Contamination

NANAIMO — Contamination of the Greater Nanaimo water system would cost $1,000,000, C. F. Newcombe, chief commissioner of the water board, told Nanaimo Fish and Game Club members.

He was answering questions from sportsmen, some of whom feel that prime hunting areas have been closed by water board restrictions.

Mr. Newcombe said that in addition to the fear of contamination, certain bridges on the South Forks Road below the reservoir were unsafe and had been condemned.

Under the present setup the board would be responsible for accidents at those bridges, he said.

Hunters heard reports of a good migratory bird season and of a number of wolves in the Northwest Bay area. Deer are plentiful in all surrounding districts, members said.

Evidence Lacking in Discrimination Case

IWA Investigates Conditions at Youbou; East Indians Living at Mill Bunkhouse

DUNCAN — A special committee of International Woodworkers of America, Local 1-80, was unable to find evidence of racial discrimination at the Youbou mill of B.C. Forest Products, it was learned at a Sunday meeting of the local.

Members still fear, however, that discrimination exists against a group of East Indians.

In July a charge of racial discrimination was made by an IWA member, and was denied by the firm. The member said that it concerned East Indian mill workers who were living in a bunkhouse at Youbou while awaiting work.

Sunday the matter was raised again to ascertain if an investigation had been made. A member of the investigation committee said that he went to Youbou and met with officials of the firm.

"I could not find any concrete evidence of discrimination," he told the meeting.

SUPPORT LACKING

Another IWA member maintained that there was racial discrimination at Youbou and suggested that perhaps the committee had been lax in its investigations.

The committee member replied that while investigations were being held he could not get anyone to come forward to "back us up." He did mention that perhaps racial discrimination did exist.

One of the East Indians in question told the meeting that men were being hired by the

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Dr. D. Lloyd Nelson, of the University of California, recently warned businessmen that confiding their problems to their wives is a good way to raise a crop of ulcers.

When a man discusses business problems with his wife, Dr. Nelson says, the wife not only sympathizes with him but starts needing him to assert his rights. "Finally, to keep his self respect and save face at home, he forces himself into doing something drastic at the office that he really doesn't want to do at all," the professor said. "The result is often an ulcer."

Naturally enough, I called the attention of My Favorite Wife to the above professorial viewpoint, with the following result:

My Favorite Wife: Oh, dear, how could the man be so wrong? Why, it is just the opposite of what he says, and you know that very well.

Me: Do I?

MFV: Of course you do, you know how soothing and restful and helpful it is for you to discuss your office problems with me. I think every good wife should be a good listener when her husband discusses office problems and this is a very good thing for husbands not a bad thing as that professor man said. Don't you think?

Me: Do I...

MFV: Of course you do. And just to prove my point, suppose you discuss your office problems with me right now, and see if you don't feel better.

Me: Well, all right, if you insist. In the first place...

MFV: You had an awful time getting an idea for the column today, didn't you?

Me: How'd you know?

MFV: I read it. But go on, tell me all about your office problems.

Me: Well, Phil's on holidays, so...

MFV: So they've gone and put you on the desk again writing heads and you do hate it don't you, you poor dear? I don't know why it always has to be you every time anybody is away or anything they just stick you there on the desk as if you were a serf or a slave or something don't they?

Me: Er...

MFV: Why don't you assert yourself and put your foot down and your shoulder to the wheel and your back to the wall because after all it is better to be safe than sure. Now, don't you feel a lot better after having told me your office problems?

Me: !

"UMBRELLA OWNED BY SHORT MAN WITH TALL WIFE"

Senior governments will allocate more funds to municipal civil defense work, but expect greater responsibility from local governments in return, W. D. Black, minister of municipal affairs and provincial CD administrator, said here today.

He was addressing local delegates at a special civil defense meeting prior to opening of the 1954 conference of Union of B.C. Municipalities on Wednesday. About 100 delegates are registered, including 20 mayors and reeves.

Civil defense, said the minister, is the combined responsibility of the three levels of government, but the burden of its operation falls mainly on the municipality.

Mr. Black pointed out the danger of thinking military forces would take over the entire country if a war were fought on Canadian soil. Both civil defense and the armed forces provide protection for the civil population, said Mr. Black.

He said the municipality is responsible for educating the householder, organizing, maintaining and operating the basic services of light, fire protection, food and water supply, and

BOTH NEEDED

Police, Army Compared By Canon Pike

By TONY DICKASON

A British army general who doesn't like to be called a general visited Victoria Sunday.

Chaplain-general to the British forces, Major General Rev. Canon Victor J. Pike, CBE, QHC, sitting in Work Point barracks officers' mess after conducting the morning service at Christ Church Cathedral, was quite positive on the point.

"I'm not a general, I'm a canon," he said, "a padre."

Forty-seven-year-old Canon Pike was even disturbed about the necessity he take the salute at a march-past of troops following morning church parade at St. Paul's.

As fresh-faced and enthusiastic as an English schoolboy (only he's Irish) Britain's top padre had a few words to say about war and Christianity...

how he reconciles the two in his work.

"Our Lord Himself met many soldiers, and condemned none," he said. "Even the patron saint of England is a soldier, St. George."

"But," he was asked, "if war is wrong, how is it possible to endorse war from a Christian point of view, as you obviously do in your position?"

RUMORS OF WARS
He explained: "The Master whom I serve said there would be wars and rumors of wars, and until the hearts and minds of people change for the better they will continue. If the world was sincerely Christian there would be no war."

"Life is not all blacks and whites, and we have to choose a position in the best spirit of conformity with God. There can be no neutrality for a Christian."

He said that if existence of an army was questioned, then one might as well turn around and argue the "why" of existence of the local police force.

"You can't very well dispense with that, now, can you?" he asked.

Soldiers, he went on, were still the best ambassadors of a country because they had a deep appreciation of troubles around the world—poverty, ignorance and exploitation.

Because of this outlook, the general said if he had his 22 years with the chaplaincy service to live again, he would not change his occupation.

Veteran YMCA Indian Secretary To Speak Here

A man who has spent the past 19 years of his life as world service secretary for the YMCA in India will visit Victoria shortly.

John H. Dunderdale, a native of Ottawa, who has been associated with YMCA work since childhood, will address the Y's Men's Club at a dinner in the Mural Room of the YMCA building at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 27.

Mr. Dunderdale first joined the Y in the boys' division in Winnipeg. At the University of Manitoba he served as a boys' club leader and an officer of the Student Christian Movement.

Graduating in 1930 with a B.A., he joined the staff of the Windsor YMCA. Doing post-graduate work at Columbia University, he was active with the New York branch of the Y. In 1933, Mr. Dunderdale moved to India at the request of the International board of the YMCA.

initiation of effective action as soon as an emergency arises.

Provincial responsibility extends to organization of local CD agencies, co-ordination between them, mobile support, training within the province, assistance to municipalities in the event of major disaster and province-wide communications, to name a few.

Federal government looks after the overall warning system, protection against sabotage, research and development, stockpiling of medical and food supplies and aiding financially by way of matching funds.

Hewitt Off To Jamaica For Bride Will Explain School's Stand

School teacher, John Hewitt, left Patricia Bay Airport Sunday night for Kingston, Jamaica, hoping to persuade his wife, Dorothy, to return with him to Shawnigan Lake School.

Mrs. Hewitt left the school in September, claiming authorities there snubbed her for being "a colored person."

There has been no indication so far as to whether Mrs. Hewitt will return or not.

Correspondence between school authorities here and Mrs. Hewitt and her father, Noel Holtz, in Jamaica, has failed to resolve the situation. The school is financing Mr. Hewitt's trip to the West Indies because they say he "is acquainted with the school's position in the case."

Headmaster G. Peter Kaye, in discussing the matter today said: "Mr. Hewitt has a responsibility to his wife and to the school. He has gone down to see his wife and discuss the matter with her to determine whether she wishes to come back or not. If he is successful, he and the school will make a statement afterward."

A five-week-old baby was one of the most seriously injured in three car crashes since Saturday noon. Altogether seven accident victims were rushed to city hospital emergency wards.

Baby Judith Wells received serious head injuries at 12:25 p.m. Saturday when a car driven by her mother, Mrs. Joan Wells, 263 Beechwood, was forced into a collision on Richmond.

Police said the Wells car collided with a car ahead which stopped suddenly to avoid hitting a dog. The sudden stop threw the child from the car seat against the dashboard. The baby is described as in "good" condition at Jubilee Hospital.

COMPOUND FRACTURE
Seven-year-old Sharon Luxton, 1221 Haultain, is resting comfortably in St. Joseph's Hospital after she received a compound fracture of the right thigh when struck by a car Sunday night, police said.

Sharon apparently ran across Douglas near Belleville from behind a parked car. She was knocked down by a car driven by Karl Joseph Vizner, 350 Sylvia.

At 7 p.m. Sunday motorcyclist Christopher John Pepper, 1214 Carlyle, collided with 13-year-old Barbara Stancil, 721 Roderick, as she attempted to cross Douglas Street at Cloverdale.

The girl suffered a fractured left leg, face abrasions and shock. Pepper suffered abrasions and severe shock, police said. Both were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Saanich police. Pepper later was transferred to RCN hospital.

A nine-month-old baby, Richard Graham, is in good condition at Jubilee after he was painfully burned when hot preserves spilled at his home. He suffered first and second degree burns to his chest, neck and arms.

Another infant, 19-month-old Daniel Smith, 431 Constance, went to Jubilee Sunday, after drinking a quantity of turpentine. After treatment the child was released to his home.

City Fisherman Presumed Dead After Wide Search

A widespread search of Juan de Fuca Strait was called off late Sunday when it was indicated that James Lawrence "Tick" Tickner, 52, was drowned.

The boat in which he set off to go fishing early Friday was found floating upside down four miles east of William Head.

Tickner, who lived at 1454 Ryan, set out in a rowboat against the advice of an Esquimalt policeman who warned him of strong offshore winds. When he failed to return, RCMP, navy and RCAF forces joined with B.C. Pilotage vessels in a two-day search.

The missing man, a shipwright, was laid off his job at the dockyard the day prior to his disappearance.

New Gadget Boon for Bed-Smokers

Where there is smoke, there need not necessarily be fire, according to J. Henry Michaud, local inventor, whose latest gimmick allows fag puffers to smoke in bed without raising upholstery insurance rates.

Briefly, his invention is an aluminum tube with holes in the sides which screws onto a cigarette holder. The cigarette is thus enclosed—no fire, no ash, no risk, no ruin.

Mr. Michaud, a heavy smoker himself, got the idea while in St. Joseph's Hospital during a recent long illness. "They were always raising heck with me for smoking in bed, so I started thinking about it."

Fire officials here together with hospital authorities have expressed keen interest in the invention.

Children bore the brunt of traffic and domestic accidents over the week-end in Greater Victoria.

'OPEN SHIP' PLANNED HERE BY 'MAGGIE'

The RCN's aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent, due at Esquimalt Harbor next Monday morning, will be open for public inspection on three days during her visit here.

The public is invited to see the carrier from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30; Sunday, Oct. 31, and Sunday, Nov. 7.

She arrived in San Francisco today and will remain there until Friday.

Magnificent will be joined in the California port Tuesday by HMCS Labrador. The ice-breaker Arctic patrol vessel left Vancouver Saturday, and will leave San Francisco Friday on the second leg of her voyage to home port of Halifax.

The Pacific Command frigate HMCS Stettler is traveling north in company with HMCS Magnificent, acting as plane guard during air-sea exercises.

City Fisherman Presumed Dead After Wide Search

A widespread search of Juan de Fuca Strait was called off late Sunday when it was indicated that James Lawrence "Tick" Tickner, 52, was drowned.

The boat in which he set off to go fishing early Friday was found floating upside down four miles east of William Head.

Tickner, who lived at 1454 Ryan, set out in a rowboat against the advice of an Esquimalt policeman who warned him of strong offshore winds. When he failed to return, RCMP, navy and RCAF forces joined with B.C. Pilotage vessels in a two-day search.

The missing man, a shipwright, was laid off his job at the dockyard the day prior to his disappearance.

SAFETY TUBE
New Gadget Boon for Bed-Smokers

Where there is smoke, there need not necessarily be fire, according to J. Henry Michaud, local inventor, whose latest gimmick allows fag puffers to smoke in bed without raising upholstery insurance rates.

Briefly, his invention is an aluminum tube with holes in the sides which screws onto a cigarette holder. The cigarette is thus enclosed—no fire, no ash, no risk, no ruin.

Mr. Michaud, a heavy smoker himself, got the idea while in St. Joseph's Hospital during a recent long illness. "They were always raising heck with me for smoking in bed, so I started thinking about it."

Fire officials here together with hospital authorities have expressed keen interest in the invention.

Children Keep Hospitals Busy On Week-End

Children bore the brunt of traffic and domestic accidents over the week-end in Greater Victoria.

A five-week-old baby was one of the most seriously injured in three car crashes since Saturday noon. Altogether seven accident victims were rushed to city hospital emergency wards.

Baby Judith Wells received serious head injuries at 12:25 p.m. Saturday when a car driven by her mother, Mrs. Joan Wells, 263 Beechwood, was forced into a collision on Richmond.

Police said the Wells car collided with a car ahead which stopped suddenly to avoid hitting a dog. The sudden stop threw the child from the car seat against the dashboard. The baby is described as in "good" condition at Jubilee Hospital.

COMPOUND FRACTURE
Seven-year-old Sharon Luxton, 1221 Haultain, is resting comfortably in St. Joseph's Hospital after she received a compound fracture of the right thigh when struck by a car Sunday night, police said.

$20,000 Loss in Maple Bay Blaze

Family Escapes As Home Guttled

Loss was estimated at from $15,000 to $20,000 in a fire Sunday afternoon that destroyed the home of G. Dennis Ross-Smith, Bazett Road, Maple Bay.

Mr. Ross-Smith, his wife, and three of their five children were home at the time, but escaped without injury.

"The only casualties were three kittens," the owner said today. "The rest of us are all right."

"The loss is covered by insurance," he said, "but the neighbors rallied around anyway and did a grand job of helping to remove furniture."

The fire broke out in far wing of the house, a long, rambling frame structure, and the children's rooms and kitchen were consumed rapidly. The owner believes, however, that most of the family heirlooms and keepsakes, valued beyond monetary worth, were saved.

Origin of the fire is still a mystery.

"I haven't a clue as to how it started," Mr. Ross-Smith said. "By the time I knew we had a fire I couldn't get within 20 feet of it."

Maple Bay volunteer fire department, with Assistant Chief Alfred Bazett in charge, received the alarm at 4:30.

TOO FAR GONE
"There was little we could do," he said. "We carry our own water, but there was none available at the site, and the fire had such a hold that we were helpless to stop it. It was too far gone."

Mr. Bazett said neighbors had been exceedingly careful in removing furnishings from the house, and that there was little breakage.

"Usually things get broken right and left," he said.

Mr. Ross-Smith, co-owner of the Silver Bridge Inn at Duncan, came to the city with his wife and family from Montreal. He has been in Duncan six years.

Injured Man Thought Hit-and-Run Victim

Sidney construction worker, Tony Kopak, about 35, remained in a dazed and shaken condition at Resthaven Hospital today following what police think is a hit-and-run accident Saturday night.

Kopak was found lying in the street at Sidney with bruises and a severe head gash.

RCMP authorities at Sidney said a search is being made for a car which may have a damaged right fender and blood stains.

Appeal of Lloyd Thomson of Lake Cowichan, convicted by Judge L. A. Hanna on a charge of incest committed on April 20, was dismissed by the B.C. Court of Appeal today. Thomson was sentenced to three years' imprisonment by the lower court judge.

New, Three-Way Brass Tray
A Boon to Any Housewife

By PENNY SAVER

Remarkable things can be done with heavy brass wire, and not to be overlooked are the new three-way brass trays. The wire, firmly wound in circular pattern, makes an excellent base. It is edged with two-inch scallops which can be left flat, giving the appearance of a fancy edging on a dolly; turned up to form sides which prevent glasses or plates from slipping off, or turned down, to transform the tray into a stand which could serve innumerable purposes.

Left flat, it would be an excellent tray upon which to serve sandwiches or cake, perhaps with the aid of a centre napkin. You'd be wise to turn up the sides when serving cups of tea, so they won't slip off and as for using it as a stand, it would be a very pretty one for holding a teapot or hot dishes of food, to prevent ruining the finish of your table . . . not to mention the fact that it would be dandy as a cake rack.

Now don't say it's too fancy for that, because brass wears for years, and even though it makes a rather elaborate cake rack, it certainly can't be damaged by being used as one!

Six dollars is the price, if you'd buy one of these trays in round shape, and you pay $8.25 for an oval-shaped one.

A lot of stoneware, a heavy sort of pottery, is made at Portobello, Scotland. After admiring several pieces of it in a local store, I was amazed when the salesgirl told me where they were made, for I hardly expected them to come from Scotland. I wouldn't have batted an eye if she'd said Czechoslovakia, Mexico or the United States . . . but Scotland! I couldn't believe it.

For one thing, this pottery is heavy and quaint, the type that is sent from slavic countries or from Mexico. Americans make it too, though they usually modernize the patterns.

I liked the little ash trays or butter pats which sell for 75 cents. Patterns on these are geometric or floral and are done in pastel tones.

A bigger ash tray with a handle, is in patterns of fish, leaves or a rooster and costs $1.95. You could also use this for a bon-bon dish. For $1.40 you can buy the same piece in a plain color.

Little bowls, which could be used for soup, individual salads or bon-bons, come in plain colors and sell at $1.50. The same thing, only larger, to be used as a serving dish, is $4.50.

WHY GROW OLD?

It's Good Sense for Men
To Reduce—Start Now

In the past we seldom heard a man talk about reducing. He believed that to be the little woman's department, although I can't see why exactly.

Why he should have felt that a bay window was any more attractive than a protruding abdomen still bewilders me. Nevertheless the idea of trying to look "prettier" was silly.

Today a man's interest in correct weight has been taken out of the silly class and placed right smack in the intelligence department. Research surveys, life insurance statistics and medical observation, have done this. It is just plain foolish to argue with facts which have been uncovered concerning the dangers of overweight.

For years I have been helping women to lose weight sensibly. Now I want to give aid to my overweight masculine readers and even those who do not read this column but have a woman who loves them, and does. The only man I do not want to reduce is Santa Claus. He has been overweight for so long and has remained so vibrant that he can evidently "take it."

Today I am giving you tomorrow's menus so you can plan tomorrow's eating. Here are menus for the first day of the Tubby Hubby 12-day diet. Stick with it for 12 days and you'll see splendid results.

Smart-Shaw Wedding Ceremony In St. John's Anglican Church

A pretty fall wedding in St. John's Anglican Church, Saturday evening, united in marriage Lillian Frances Shaw, daughter of Mrs. Y. F. Shaw, 3033 Cedar Hill Road, and the late Frederick Shaw, with Dennis William Smart, son of Ernest Smart, Vancouver.

Canon George Biddle officiated at the ceremony and Frederick Chubb played traditional organ music.

Baskets of chrysanthemums and carnations were placed at the altar and guest pews were marked with clusters of heather.

Clarence Shaw, Beresford, Man., brother of the bride, gave her in marriage. For the ceremony she chose a full-length gown of white nylon net over crisp taffeta. The bouffant skirt was topped with a short tier, also of net, which separated from the waistline at front. The fitted bodice was buttoned to the waistline and the tiny collar was pointed. A tiara of pearls and brilliants held the petite bride's fingertip veil of nylon illusion net, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis in semi-crescent design. She wore a pair of pearl stud earrings, gift of the groom, and a matching necklace.

Maid of honor was Miss Helen Williams, who wore a gown of midnight blue net sprinkled with brilliants, over satin. A matching jacket covered the fitted, strapless bodice and she wore a net hair bandeau, dotted with brilliants. Pink carnations formed her bouquet.

Miss Jeannie Hammersmark, Florence Nightingale Chapter, IODE, sewing meeting at home of Mrs. Emerson Smith, 333 Linden Avenue, Tuesday at 2 p.m.

corsage of yellow roses. Mother of the groom chose a navy dress with navy and white red-tinge and red and navy accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Following a honeymoon in the United States, the newlyweds will make their home on Linden Avenue. For travelling the bride and groom donned twin suits of blue-grey color, the bride having accessories of tan and corsage of brown orchids.

Big Rummage Sale Planned

An unusual feature of the forthcoming rummage sale to be held by the Women's Auxiliary to Family and Children's Service is a "specialty room," which will contain the better quality garments such as women's, men's and children's clothing, shoes, jewelry and hats.

Facilities will be provided for customers to try on these articles before purchasing. In the regular hall there will be clothing, china, and many other worthwhile and useful objects. Mrs. A. M. Bell is convenor of the sale which will be held in Orange Hall, 725 Courtney Street, Oct. 30, commencing at 10 a.m. Plans were completed at the October meeting of the WA held in the Health and Welfare Building, Mrs. J. de Bourcier, vice-president, in the chair. Also discussed was the forthcoming Christmas festival of

Ceremony in St. John's Church For Mr. and Mrs. Jim W. Burns

Two tall baskets of bronze and mauve chrysanthemums were placed at the altar of St. John's Anglican Church, Saturday evening, for the wedding of Rae Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Evenden, 1131 Pakner Road, and James Walter Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. (Barney) Burns, 618 Vancouver Street. Canon George Biddle officiated, and as the register was being signed, Arthur Stringer sang "The Lord's Prayer."

A gown of white brocade was worn by the attractive bride, given in marriage by her father. It was styled with Empire waistline and the portrait neckline was trimmed with tear drop pearls. A full, graceful skirt swept into a circular train. A tiara of seed pearls held her chapel veil with scalloped edges, and she wore the groom's gift, a three-strand necklace of pearls. Gardenias and red roses formed her cascade bouquet.

Matron-of-honor for her sister, Miss Meryl Evenden, wore a gown of gold antique taffeta, iridescent with royal blue. Gowns of antique taffeta were also worn by Miss Barbara Dale, bridesmaid, and Miss Leslie Evenden, sister of the bride, junior bridesmaid, in mulberry, iridescent with forest green, and rose, iridescent with green, respectively. All attendants carried half-crescent bouquets of chrysanthemums.

Arthur Dave was best man, while G. Bennett, L. Leisch, and G. Smith ushered.

A reception followed at the Flamingo Room of the Crystal Garden, which was decorated with bronze and mauve chrysanthemums.

Royal Roads Chapter, IODE, sewing meeting, Wednesday at home of Mrs. P. Angus, 1049 Rockland Avenue. Lake Hill Women's Institute, Wednesday at 2 p.m. International Day program, WI Hall, Quadra Street. Carnarvon Park Mission Hall Guild, home of Mrs. S. Johnson, 2083 Neil Street, Wednesday at 2 p.m.

Oil Banks $7 Million For Alberta Indians

Enoch Band, 258 Strong, Collects $10,000 a Month; Each Gets $20 Cheque

By DON HANRIGHT

CALGARY (CP)—Oil is pouring gold into the purses of Alberta's Indians.

Oil derricks and producing wells operating on Indian reservation timber and wheat lands have moved Indians of some tribes close to independence, although they still are government wards.

The federal government's financial responsibilities to the Alberta Indian have in some cases been reduced to education and a slim share of health and welfare. Even the old beef rations have been discontinued in some places.

WISE ADMINISTRATION

Oil altered the picture—and the sagacity of tribal councils who refused to surrender treaty lands about 50 years ago and now are using their government-held funds for agricultural expansion and modern housing.

The 15,000 Indians of Alberta's nine tribes live on 71 reservations comprising 1,400,000 acres. All but 274,833 acres was under oil and natural gas leases—or exploration—permits last year.

They now have more than $7,000,000 held in two accounts at Ottawa—nearly $4,000,000 above the 1953 figure. This year, they are spending a total of $1,544,600, seven times as much as last year.

The 23 producing oil wells on the Stony Plain reserve, 20 miles west of Edmonton, mean $10,000 monthly for the Enoch band. The Enochs have a capital account of $600,000, and the band's council distributes roughly $20 a month to each of its 258 members.

BLOOD INDIANS PROSPER

The Blood Indians on Canada's largest reserve, stretching 40 miles southwest from Lethbridge, are probably more prosperous than any.

Their 33,000-acre reserve, once the centre of the Empire's largest wheat field, last year earned them $338,000 from agricultural and grazing leases and $67,000 from exploration permits.

With a bank balance of $663,000, the Bloods have established an ambitious ranching and housing development which eventually will provide them with probably the highest standard of living enjoyed by any Canadian Indian.

Mineral rights on all reserve land have been surrendered to the federal Indian affairs branch which negotiates all sales and rentals. No Indian can make a contract.

Oil companies cannot hold exploration permits on more than four sections—2,560 acres.

Pirie Wins, But So Do Russians

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—The Moscow track team ended its tour of England Saturday with a 17-6 victory over a northern England team in heavy rain and on an antiquated track which held performances far below international standards.

England's Gordon Pirie took the three-mile event, beating Aleksander Anisiev by 40 yards in the time of 13:33.0. Russian Vladimir Kuc scratched from the event to rest up for his meeting with Emil Zatopek in Prague next week.

Queens Blank Toronto Blues

Queen's Golden Gaels whipped University of Toronto Blues, 20-0, and University of Western Ontario Mustangs trimmed McGill Redmen, 25-6, in senior Intercollegiate Union play Saturday, while Toronto Balmy Beach and Sarnia Imperials split in a Saturday-Sunday double-header in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Balmy Beach pulled the ORFU season's upset Sunday, downing the second-place Imperials, 16-3, before only 200 at Toronto for their first victory in 10 starts. Imperials had handed the Beaches their ninth straight loss, 28-18, at Sarnia Saturday.

The average American lives 68½ years, an increase of nearly four years over the average life expectancy 10 years ago.

U.S. Election Campaign Warms With Balloting Two Weeks Away

WASHINGTON (UP)—The 1954 election campaign rolled into the final two weeks today with the Republicans grimly hopeful and the Democrats optimistic about the way the votes will go in November.

Vice-President Richard M. Nixon planned to issue a statement late today on how things look to him after a campaign swing through 23 states. An aide said the report "won't be pessimistic" but he declined to say it would be optimistic.

House Democratic leader Sam Rayburn beamed with confidence as he pulled into the capital Sunday night from speaking engagements in California, Texas and Virginia. He made it clear he expects a sweeping Democratic victory.

As the time for balloting drew near, the tempo of the campaign picked up all across the country. Nixon will leave

Tuesday on a hard-hitting tour of Pennsylvania, Illinois, the Pacific Northwest, and California. Rayburn will hit the trail for Missouri Wednesday. Adlai Stevenson, Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., and the other big political guns will all be in the firing line.

Canadian Club Elects Officers

Douglas A. M. Patterson has been elected president of the Canadian Club of Victoria and G. F. Dunn first vice-president.

Named second vice-president was John H. Brown while George H. Gardiner was named honorary secretary-treasurer and H. S. Clark honorary auditor. Named to the executive were Major D. L. McKeand, Stuart Keate, H. P. Stephen, Capt. P. W. McMurray, George I. Warren, Andrew B. Weir and J. C. Thow.

Over the week-end, Republicans and Democrats pummeled each other hard on everything from unemployment to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's commentary on dogs.

British Strike Easing

Liverpool Dockers Handling Cargoes

LONDON (UP)—Hundreds of stevedores on the Liverpool docks struck a major blow against the Communist leadership of Britain's wildcat dock strike today. They began streaming back to work in defiance of Red pleas for a nationwide walkout.

London, the world's largest port, remained in the paralyzing grip of a strike of almost all dock and allied workers and the situation was complicated by a bus strike, snarling the movements of millions of people.

NO GENERAL STRIKE
But in Liverpool, Southampton, Hull and elsewhere the Communist-backed bid for a general strike which would threaten the nation's post-war recovery appeared to be losing momentum.

Strike leaders tried to hold a meeting at the gates of North Dock in Liverpool. Workers brushed past the agitators and by late afternoon ships which had been standing idle were being unloaded. All vessels were being handled but some were undermanned.

CHRISTMAS TRADE HIT
In London, meanwhile, the stench of rotting fruits, vegetables and other perishables filled the air and Britain's exporters fretted at the prospect of an even more serious disruption of the nation's export trade. Millions of dollars of items intended for the Christmas trade already are seriously delayed.

As the strikes entered their third week, Prime Minister Winston Churchill's revamped cabinet was expected to meet for its almost daily review of the situation.

An official said the government almost certainly will call out troops to unload vital cargoes unless the strikes are settled.

The country is rapidly approaching its worst shortage of food and raw materials since the Second World War. In addition, an estimated $60,000,000 worth of exports are piled up on the idle piers.

DEATHS 'NEEDLESS' CD CHIEF DECLARES

OTTAWA (BUP)—Most of those who died in Toronto's flood and storm disaster last week-end could have been saved if a proper civil defense organization had been functioning, Maj. Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defense co-ordinator, said today.

He left here in an RCAF plane at dawn Sunday, toured the stricken sections and returned at midnight last night. He said he would report to the federal government later today that most of the loss of life and property damage was needless.

"This disaster—and it's one of considerable magnitude—emphasizes tragically the absolute fallacy of not having a civil defense organization," Worthington said.

SOME WERE SAVED, BUT ...

Slimy Mud Covers Third of Woodbridge

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. (CP)—It is a shocking scene here. Slimy brown mud covers one-third of the town.

Bulldozers shove masses of fallen trees and debris from the streets.

Red cross workers prepare food and distribute clothing to the homeless huddled in the United Church and public school.

Searchers slog through the mud in search of bodies. The nightmare for the town's 1,900 residents, which began Friday night, continued.

Sunday town council totaled up the damage wrought by the wild Humber river: At least six dead, 250 homeless, property losses estimated at $1,175,000.

Woodbridge nestles in the Humber valley on Toronto's northwestern outskirts Friday night the Humber, fed by torrential rains from hurricane Hazel, began its death race to Lake Ontario.

By the time the flood crest reached here, the Humber had swelled from its normal 65-foot width to 350 feet.

It wrecked 20 houses and every trailer in a trailer park, and severely damaged 50 other homes in Woodbridge and adjacent Pine Grove.

By midnight the town's water supply was contaminated and power off. Four thousand gallons of water was rushed by truck.

Three doctors inoculated more than 1,000 persons against typhoid.

Six navy rescue workers collapsed from exhaustion. Seaman Charles Puckwell broke this arm when he was smashed against a whaler.

A 95-year-old woman was taken from an upper floor of her home, strapped to a mattress supported by six canoe paddles and carried through a window to a waiting boat.

Many were saved—but many were lost.

Churchill to Stay?

Political observers saw in the British cabinet shuffle announced Sunday a determination by Prime Minister Winston Churchill to stay at the helm. Details of cabinet shuffle on page 2.

29 Missing, 1,500 Lose Their Homes

Relief Fund Opened With $250,000 Donation; Federal Aid Promised

TORONTO (CP)—More bodies were lifted today from the silt and debris of the receding Humber River whose sudden flood Friday night killed most of Hurricane Hazel's 57 known victims in Ontario.

The final toll will be much higher. Thirty-nine persons were still reported missing.

But as confusion eased in the flood area, 28 other persons whose fate had been unknown were found safe.

Troops and civilians probed mud-filled cellars and the wreckage of flattened homes in the Humber valley for further bodies.

HOSTELS SET UP

The Red Cross, Salvation Army and other bodies set up emergency hostels to shelter more than 500 families left homeless in the inundated Holland Marsh, 35 miles to the north.

Fair, cool weather favored the search and hastened the runoff of flood water, but recovery of bodies was slow.

Many relatives waited to identify the dead at an emergency morgue in a suburban fire hall. Twenty-seven bodies there already were identified.

Federal aid for flood victims, whose losses have been placed as high as $100,000,000, was promised by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

DONATIONS FOR RELIEF

The Toronto Hurricane Relief Fund was established and donations poured in. They ranged from the pennies of the poor to a $250,000 contribution from the Atkinson Charitable Foundation.

H. W. Manning, chairman of the Canadian Disaster Relief Fund, was summoned to Winnipeg by Premier Frost as an adviser to the Ontario flood relief organization.

Most of the missing who turned up today had been included in a list issued at midnight by officials in Etobicoke. It was there, at Weston and at Woodbridge that the usually placid Humber took its heaviest toll.

Swollen to a torrent by 7.2 inches of rain Friday, the river burst its banks, swept across a bend in its course and devastated three streets in Etobicoke township—Raymore Drive, Gilhaven Drive and Kingdom Street. On Raymore alone 19 homes were swept away, leaving only a rubble of foundations.

41-Ft. Crest Rolling Down Ohio River

WHEELING, W.Va. (UP)—Southern Ohio towns braced themselves today for an Ohio River flood that already had claimed possibly 14 lives, forced thousands of persons to flee their homes and caused an estimated $23,700,000 damage.

The most heavily-populated river towns faced with the flood threat were Marietta, Ironton, New Boston and Portsmouth. The weather bureau warned the 16,000 residents of Marietta to prepare for a crest of 41 feet at 4 p.m. The bank at Marietta overflows at 36 feet.

Dotten Quits As Manager Of Royals

Frank Dotten, coach of the New Westminster Royals, of the Western Hockey League, quit the club today after a dispute with co-owner Kenny McKenzie. Besides quitting the club, Dotten threatened to take five of the team's players who are owned by Dotten.

Players owned by Dotten, who brought them with him from the defunct Seattle Bombers, are scoring star Guyle Fielder, Barton Bradley, Harry Penner, Gordon Sinclair and Valerie Fonteyne. Dotten had leased the players to the Royals.

Victoria Cougar general manager Fred Hutchinson huddled with McKenzie Saturday night in an unsuccessful attempt to make a player deal. However, after today's developments, it is possible Cougars will attempt to secure one or more of the five players.

Supreme Court Upholds Wismer; Blair Fraser Defense Struck Out

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today unanimously refused Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine, leave to appeal to the court a decision of the British Columbia courts which strikes out his defense in a libel suit against himself and the semi-monthly magazine.

The B.C. courts invoked a rule striking out Mr. Fraser's entire defense because of his steadfast refusal to divulge the names of his informants for an article entitled "B.C. Coalition Commits Suicide" and published in the Feb. 15, 1952, issue of Maclean's.

Mr. Fraser will be unable to present any defense when the case comes before a trial judge little else to do than set the amount of damages.

delivered the court's decision immediately after argument by Duncan MacTavish, counsel for Mr. Fraser.

The court did not call upon counsel for Gordon Wismer, former attorney-general of B.C. who is asking unstated damages for an alleged libel in the article dealing with the break-up of the B.C. Liberal-Progressive Conservative coalition government.

British Strike Easing

Liverpool Dockers Handling Cargoes

LONDON (UP)—Hundreds of stevedores on the Liverpool docks struck a major blow against the Communist leadership of Britain's wildest dock strike today. They began streaming back to work in defiance of Red pleas for a nationwide walkout.

London, the world's largest port, remained in the paralyzing grip of a strike of almost all dock and allied workers and the situation was complicated by a bus strike, snarling the movements of millions of people.

But in Liverpool, Southampton, Hull and elsewhere the Communist-backed bid for a general strike which would threaten the nation's post-war recovery appeared to be losing momentum.

Strike leaders tried to hold a meeting at the gates of North Dock in Liverpool. Workers brushed past the agitators and by late afternoon ships which had been standing idle were being unloaded.

Rescue Operations in Disaster

Motorists stranded on top of their flooded cars brace against raging waters with the aid of cable with rags knotted to it. (Toronto Star Photo.)

This hotel and service station in Mount Dennis, a western suburb of Toronto, were partly submerged by flood waters of the Humber River. Motorists had to abandon their cars as waters drowned their motors. (Additional flood pictures on Page 12).

1,500 Lose Their Homes; Death Toll Mounts to 57

TORONTO (CP)—More bodies were lifted today from the silt and debris of the receding Humber River whose sudden flood Friday night killed most of Hurricane Hazel's 57 known victims in Ontario.

The final toll will be much higher. Thirty-nine persons were still reported missing.

But as confusion eased in the flood area, 28 other persons whose fate had been unknown were found safe.

Troops and civilians probed mud-filled cellars and the wreckage of flattened homes in the Humber valley, where 1,000 are homeless.

The Red Cross, Salvation Army and other bodies set up emergency hostels to shelter more than 500 families left homeless in the inundated Holland Marsh, 35 miles to the north.

Fair, cool weather favored the search and hastened the runoff of flood water, but recovery of bodies was slow.

Many relatives waited to identify the dead at an emergency morgue in a suburban fire hall. Twenty-seven bodies there already were identified.

Federal aid for flood victims, whose losses have been placed as high as $100,000,000, was promised by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

DONATIONS FOR RELIEF

The Toronto Hurricane Relief Fund was established and donations poured in. They ranged from the pennies of the poor to a $250,000 contribution from the Atkinson Charitable Foundation.

H. W. Manning, chairman of the Canadian Disaster Relief Fund, was summoned from Winnipeg by Premier Frost as an adviser to the Ontario flood relief organization.

Most of the missing who turned up today had been included in a list issued at midnight by officials in Etobicoke. It was there, at Weston and at Woodbridge that the usually placid Humber took its heaviest toll.

DEATHS 'NEEDLESS' CD CHIEF DECLARES

OTTAWA (BUP)—Most of those who died in Toronto's flood and storm disaster last week-end could have been saved if a proper civil defense organization had been functioning, Maj-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defense co-ordinator, said today.

He left here in an RCAF plane at dawn Sunday, toured the stricken sections and returned at midnight last night. He said he would report to the federal government later today that most of the loss of life and property damage was needless.

"This disaster—and it's one of considerable magnitude—emphasizes tragically the absolute fallacy of not having a civil defense organization," Worthington said.
